GERMANY FACED BY WARLIKE RATIONING OF RAW MATERIALS

Organized Restrictions of Industrial Life Being Gradually Tightened by Curtailment of Imports —Shortage of Oils and Fats Chief Problem in Providing for Self-Sufficiency

BERLIN, July 23 (AP).—Fresh indications that Germany is being forced into absolute rationing of raw materials on a basis second only to the Great War period, came today with the announcement that a special commission will "control" the available supply of vegetable oils and animal fats, and will regulate the production of soap.

Practically every phase of German industrial life now is under organized restrictions that are being gradually tightened to strangulating pressure as imports of needed raw materials are being curtailed.

THE OUTSTANDING PROBLEM

The latest "control board" will be of especial importance, it is anticipated, since oils and fats constitute the present outstanding problem of the third Reich, when it comes to talk of "self-sufficiency" against the remainder of the world.

Oil seeds cannot be grown freely in Germany, and the supply of animal fat is inadequate. Soap hoarding is visualized.

Suggestions toward elimination of waste and toward self-sufficiency continue to pour into the German press, varying from care of the use of string to the straining and refining of used motor oil.

In the matter of food, agricultural experts are finding increasing evidence that Germany will have sufficient meat and bread grains for the coming Winter, but perhaps will face a serious shortage of seed and grains for animals.

JILTED WOMAN SHOOTS LOVER

Disappointed Matron Sends Bullet Into Head of San Francisco Man

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23 (AP).—Richard Tench, fifty-five, an engineer-inspector on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge project, was shot here tonight by Mrs. Lillian Barendt, fifty, who accused him of breaking a promise to marry her, police said.

Tench, a widower, who has three grown children residing in Vancouver, B.C., was reported in a critical condition at a hospital to which he was taken. The bullet entered the back of his head and emerged at the temple.

REFUSED INVITATION

The shooting occurred in front of a garage where Tench kept his automobile. Police said Tench declared Mrs. Barendt, a divorcee, became angry because he had declined an invitation to take her out.

Mrs. Barendt, who was arrested, was quoted by officers as saying she met Tench at a social club about a year ago and that he later asked her to marry him.

OTHER WOMEN

"We loved each other dearly," police said Mrs. Barendt declared—"or, at least I thought we did." She asserted, the officers said, that she discovered Tench had been going out with other women.

"There were others," she was quoted as saying, "probably many more than I will ever know. One lived in Vancouver and later in Portland. Another lives in San Francisco. I won't give their names."

MORE DAMAGE BY PANAMA TREMORS

Earthquake Again Flattens Houses and Cuts Communications at David City

PANAMA, July 23 (AP).—Residents of David City were terrified by another sharp earthquake this morning, according to a delayed dispatch coming from the quake-stricken region. Some homes, damaged by earlier shocks, were leveled today.

The most important damage, however, was reported to be the destruction of two telegraph lines between David City and Puerto Armuelles. Only a single line remained in operation to give David City an uncertain contact with the outside world.

Earth shocks of the past three days, in some regions almost continuous, have kept residents of interior provinces in a state bordering on hysteria.

VOTING ON ARBITRATION

Favorable Decision Expected From Balloting of Striking Longshoremen

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23 (AP).—Under the guiding hand of the Government's mediation board, 12,000 striking Pacific Coast longshoremen balloted today on whether to submit their troubles to arbitration and go back to work. A favorable vote was widely forecast.

Vestiges of business paralysis engendered by the long strike, and the unprecedented mass walkout of San Francisco Bay district labor, in sympathy with the longshoremen and other marine workers, began disappearing as the voting progressed. Portland labor leaders dropped plans for a sympathetic walkout there, pending outcome of the balloting.

APPROACHING NORMAL

Shipping operations began to approach their normal status. The work of non-union men continued with increased speed at Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, in order that the wharves might be cleared of great accumulations of consignments.

About 700 National Guardsmen, remaining on duty on the state-owned San Francisco waterfront, were ordered withdrawn tonight or tomorrow.

SEATTLE, July 23 (AP).—After a brief address by William J. Lewis, international president of the Longshoremen's Association, Seattle longshoremen began voting, late today, on the arbitration proposal for settlement of the Coast strike. Lewis flew to the Pacific Northwest to work for the arbitration proposal.

The opinion prevailed among both strikers and employers, that the decision would be favorable to arbitration.

PLANE IS READY FOR BAGDAD HOP

WASAGA BEACH, Ont., July 23 (CP).—Her big twin motors stilled and protected by canvas, The Trail of the Caribou rested on the smooth sands of this Georgian Bay beach, tonight, while attendants groomed her for a proposed flight to Bagdad.

From indications of the weather after midnight, Lee Murray, general manager of De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, told the Canadian Press, J. R. Ayling, former Royal Air Force flyer, and Leonard G. Reid, of Toronto, probably will take off at the first streak of dawn, on their attempt to break the long-distance flying record.

They expect to take their twin-motored high-wing cabin monoplane to Bagdad, 6,500 miles from Wasaga, in one hop.

Dillinger Trapped And Shot Dead by Federal Officers

"Baby Face" Nelson Succeeds as Public Enemy No. 1 of the United States—His Former Chief, Betrayed by Woman, Killed Like Rat on Chicago Street

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP).—A "girl in a red dress" tonight was popularly credited with being the "finger" who put the desperado, John Dillinger, "on the spot," last night, outside a North Side theatre. With a male companion, the girl was said to be secluded under police and Federal guard in a downtown hotel suite, protected from the possible vengeance of the remnants of the Dillinger gang.

"The girl in the red dress" was reported to have been one of two women said to have attended the theatre with Dillinger. Chicago policemen said that the two women emerged arm in arm with Dillinger, separated as they left the playhouse and that the one in red preceded him across the alley, where the desperado was shot down.

WOMEN IN CUSTODY

Both women, the policemen said in their report, were taken into custody by the Federal agents.

England Has Dog-Headed Sea Serpent

PLYMOUTH, Eng., July 23 (AP).—Bathers here during the week-end reported seeing a sea monster which they described as about ten feet long, with a snake-like body and a dog-like head.

The monster, they said, was thin, brown in color and devoid of fins. Holding its head high and swaying from side to side, the spectators reported, it disappeared out to sea.

Will Use Mouse To Detect "Dope"

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (AP).—Waving of a mouse's tail may determine the "doping" of race horses. Dr. James C. Munch, in studying the action of drugs most commonly used for "doping" horses, found the injection of small amounts under the skin of white mice would cause the mouse's tail to curve over its back.

B.C. Group of Retail Merchants File Wage Schedule With Board

Recommendations From Executives of Mercantile Institutions Presented to Provincial Body at Meeting Here—Minimums Suggested

RECOMMENDATIONS from the British Columbia Board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, were submitted to the Provincial Industrial Relations Board here, yesterday, by George R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the organization.

The recommendations cover the mercantile trades generally, with special suggestions with reference to grocers, meat dealers and service stations and garages. The brief was submitted to the members of the board at yesterday morning's session.

The association represents practically all of the major classifications of retail business and is already on record with the Department of Labor as unanimously endorsing the establishing of a minimum wage for male employees in the mercantile industry, Mr. Matthews told the board.

PARTY UNABLE TO REACH BYRD

Turns Back After Covering Nearly Half Distance—Marking Flags Lost

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, July 23 (AP).—The frozen Antarctic today turned back a tractor party which made a desperate effort to reach the Bolling advance base, where Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd is alone, making scientific observations.

No further word was received from Admiral Byrd, who, it was feared, may be suffering from an injury to his arm. His radio was out of commission.

The tractor party, headed by Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, reported by radio that it turned back after having covered about one-half of the 123 miles to the advance base.

The party which set out on Friday to bring Admiral Byrd back to the main base reported it could not pick up the trail. Orange flags, with which the route had been marked, could not be found past the point reached, the relief party reported yesterday. Byrd followed the trail four months ago to take up his lonely sentinel duty.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

Mayor Leeming and R. F. Blandy to Represent Union During Survey

Mayor David Leeming and R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk of Oak Bay, will represent the Union of British Columbia Municipalities on the large investigating committee to survey educational costs for the Provincial Government, it was learned at the City Hall, yesterday.

The Mayor and Mr. Blandy are members of the union executive, Mayor Leeming being first vice-president. He also has been appointed to serve on the revisionary committee, which will condense the report of the large investigating committee so that the Minister of Education and the Minister of Finance can bring in a list of recommendations at the next session of the Legislature.

Already the Mayor is busily engaged preparing data to place before the investigating committee, which will show just how the burden of education has been concentrated onto the shoulders of a few instead of being borne by the masses.

PEERS ENDORSE PLANS FOR AIR

Lord Londonderry Says Programme Designed to Avert Armament Race

LONDON, July 23 (CP). — The total cost of Great Britain's extended air force programme up to 1938 will be about $100,000,000, the House of Lords was informed, today, by the Secretary for Air, Lord Londonderry.

The Lords defeated, by fifty-four votes to nine, a resolution moved by Lord Ponsonby, the Labor leader, regretting the Government's decision to increase the Royal Air Force by forty-one squadrons, and bring it to parity with war planes of Britain's strongest neighbor. Lord Ponsonby urged the inadvisability of taking such a step before the termination of the disarmament conference.

TO AVERT RACE

The new programme is designed to avert an armaments race, declared Lord Londonderry in reply.

"The completion of the programme," he added, "will place our air force in a position from which further expansion can be safely and expeditiously accomplished should parity prove unobtainable except by our building upwards."

The Air Minister expressed the hope that an international agreement would make it unnecessary to enlarge the Royal Air Force beyond the new five-year plan.

SALES IN REAL ESTATE GAINING

Figures for First Six Months of Year Reveal Increase of $54,421

Real estate transfers for the first six months of this year exceed those for the corresponding period of last year by $54,421, it was announced yesterday by George Okell, city assessor, when making public the semi-annual statement on property exchanges.

Total value of the transfers this year amounted to $1,224,033, as against $1,169,912 for the first six months of 1933.

JUNE FIGURES

During June the transfers amounted to $168,036, of which $66,325 was represented by actual sales, the others by exchanges of properties, and probate of wills. This is an increase of $13,280 in sales over the month of May.

Following are the total values of transfers month by month since the beginning of the year: January, $508,062; February, $154,190; March, $143,615; April, $131,415; May, $118,925; and June, $168,026.

DEATHS EXCEED 500 AS U.S. SIZZLES IN TERRIFIC HEAT

Little Hope of Cooler Weather—Drought Crisis Intensified as Crops Wither and Cattle Perish —Human Suffering Is Terrible—Only Two Weeks' Water for Oklahoma Stock

Eastern Seaboard Not Hit As Hard as Middle States

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP).—A sacrifice to scorching Summer sun, the heat wave toll of the week mounted to 507 lives Monday, while nearly all sections of the nation sweltered. The drought crisis was intensified with searing temperatures, that blasted vegetation and added thousands of livestock casualties between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains.

Quincy, Ill., was the hottest spot in the nation with 112 degrees reported. Throughout the Middle West, thermometers were universally above the century mark. Keokuk, Iowa, and St. Louis simmered at 108, and Minneapolis reported 106.

DIE FROM HEAT

Human suffering mounted to new highs, and deaths occurred with stupifying rapidity. In Missouri alone, 154 persons have succumbed to tropic heat in the last several days. In Illinois, 125 heat deaths occurred, while Nebraska's toll was fifty-three. In St. Louis, forty-six deaths occurred in two days, almost one every hour.

Only to southern coastal states was relief hope held out for today. Storm warnings for small craft were issued.

CROPS WITHER

Crop damages, due to the heat, were reported in Iowa. Agricultural states watched farm products wither and vanish.

It was 109 at Chicago's airport, a few miles from Lake Michigan; 104 at Memphis, and 102 in Shreveport, La. Miles City, Mont., suffered at 100 degrees, while Dallas, Texas, reported 98.

Only three cool spots appeared on the weather bureau's temperature map, those due to local modifying conditions. In San Francisco it was only 62; Duluth, 72, and Santa Fe, N.M., 74.

On the eastern seaboard, heat conditions were somewhat allayed, and Baltimore enjoyed a cool 85.

WATER SHORTAGE

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 23 (AP).—Only a two weeks' supply of water remains between 100,000 Western Oklahoma cattle and death, E. J. Jeffrey, special drought investigator, reported to the United States Administration.

"All pasturage is gone—burned up," said Jeffrey. "The water supply is only sufficient to last for two more weeks. When that is gone there will be nothing left."

Endeavour Is on Way To Newport

GOSPORT, England, July 23 (AP).—Endeavour, $250,000 worth of wood, steel and canvas, tonight headed down the English Channel en route for Newport, R.I., and another British challenge for the world's greatest yachting trophy, the America's Cup.

White canvas billowing in the breeze, the big racer moved out of Gosport Harbor just before noon, as thousands of spectators ashore and on other yachts and pleasure boats roared "good-bye, good luck."

Six hours after leaving she was reported passing Portland Hill, off Weymouth.

The America's Cup races between Endeavour and an American defender, to be selected from among the new Rainbow, Weetamoe and Yankee, will be held off Newport, beginning September 15. They will continue on succeeding week days—the September 15 date failing on Saturday—until one yacht has won four races.

ADMITS SETTING REICHSTAG FIRE

Letter Allegedly Written to Von Hindenburg Accuses Goering of Instigation

SAARBRUCKEN, July 23 (CP-Havas).—The Deutsche Freiheit today published a letter allegedly written to President von Hindenburg and signed "E. Kruse." The letter was purported to be written by a storm trooper, the last survivor of the group, which, according to "Kruse," set fire to the Reichstag.

The letter said "Kruse" and others acting under orders of Premier Herman Goering, of Prussia, and Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, had set the fire. Marinus Van der Lubbe (subsequently executed for arson) had been charged to carry out the outside operations, "Kruse" alleged.

The others, he said, had attempted to destroy the Assembly Hall by the use of explosives. They had reached the Reichstag by an underground passage linking the home of Goering to the building.

"Kruse" said he had fled Germany after the "purge" of June 30.

MERCURY RISES TO EIGHTY-ONE

Although the mercury rose to eighty-one degrees in the standard screen at Gonzales Observatory, and thermometers in the lower levels went even higher, no heat records were set yesterday, F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, stated last night.

The warm weather is quite general throughout the province, and eastward as far as Manitoba, Mr. Denison said. He announced that Victoria could expect three or four days of real fine, warm weather.

DEPARTMENTAL BOARD SOUGHT

Creation of Provincial Marketing Board Is Under Consideration

British Columbia's new markets board in all probability will be one composed of officials already within the Provincial service and identified with agricultural, legal or other branches of that service, it was reaffirmed yesterday in well-informed circles.

While official announcement is not looked for until after appointment of a Federal marketing body, the Government is expected to accept the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, known to be in favor of a departmental board.

MAY FOLLOW PRINCIPLE

Inclining to the same end was a recent dispatch from the East, which intimated that the Dominion itself would follow this principle in the creation of a Federal marketing body.

Though pressure to have the British Columbia Government name an outside body, with three fresh-salaried appointments, has not weakened, there was evidence yesterday that the Cabinet is likely to follow the recommendation of its own minister.

Appointment of regional commodity boards must await creation of control areas by Federal decree. It is being anticipated, however, that control of milk marketing will be set up in British Columbia this year; to be followed in due course by committees on tree-fruits, hothouse tomatoes and other agricultural products.

Covering legislation also applies to fisheries and lumber, but without clear indication yet that such control is intended, at present.

Shareholders of Wayside Ask for Searching Inquiry

Government Is Studying All Phases of Bridge River Mine Operation—Specific Issues Raised by Toronto Representative of Investors in That City—Faith Expressed in Property

DEPARTMENTAL officials have been making a careful study of the affairs of the Wayside Consolidated for some time, Attorney-General Gordon M. Sloan stated yesterday, when questioned regarding a demand for a complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the sudden decline of share prices in that Bridge River property. This demand comes from Toronto stockholders, who sent John H. Roberts, accompanied by a mining engineer, to Bridge River, to look over the situation on their behalf.

On his return to Toronto, Mr. Roberts, who is editor of a mining journal there, wrote to the British Columbia Government making serious allegations, and demanding a searching inquiry into the manner in which the company business had been conducted.

FAITH IN MINE

"I have looked over the Wayside property with my engineer and I have yet to find any mining man who does not believe that Wayside will ultimately make a mine," Mr. Roberts wrote to the Government. "It is not with that aspect of the case that I am requesting you to investigate, so much as the stock situation as it affects the investors in Wayside stock, for whom I speak."

Continuing, Mr. Roberts states that such an investigation is in the interests of British Columbia mines in general.

He particularly asks that the cir-

Drought Will Make Large Reduction in World's Wheat Crop

United States Bureau Predicts 400,000,000 Bushels Less Than Last Year Will Be Harvested With 80,000,000 More Bushels by Canada

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP). — A reduction of 400,000,000 bushels in the world wheat crop for 1934, as the result of drought, was predicted today by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Production in the Northern Hemisphere, outside of Russia and China, was expected to be about 300,000,000 bushels less than last year, with the remaining 100,000,000 bushels reduction being accounted for in the Southern Hemisphere.

Last year's crop totaled 3,693,000,000 bushels.

INCREASE IN CANADA

Most of the reduction in the Northern Hemisphere is expected to occur in the United States and Europe. Canada is expected to produce 80,000,000 bushels more than last year. The reduction in the Danube basin was estimated at about 130,000,000 bushels, with twenty-one other countries of Continental Europe producing about 210,000,000 bushels less than in 1933. The remaining 40,000,000 bushels decrease will be accounted for by Russia, China and the United States.

Production in Argentina was set at 50,000,000 bushels less than last year, and in Australia about 60,000,000 bushels less. The crop in four countries of Northern Africa was estimated at about 9,000,000 bushels more than last year.

DECREASED CARRY-OVER

The world wheat carry-over appears to be about 50,000,000 bushels less than last year, the bureau said, with increased stocks in European countries making up for a decrease of about 80,000,000 bushels in stocks of the principal exporting countries.

LONDON, July 23 (CP).—The estimate of 350,000,000 bushels in export demand from Canada in the coming crop year, starting August 1, was declared today by Andrew Cairns, Canadian wheat expert who is secretary of the World Wheat Commission, as "far too high."

PRESIDENT'S ESTIMATE

This estimate had been computed by Sir Herbert Robson, president of the London Corn Trade Association, who last week figured the world demand for wheat would take care of the available supply in the coming months.

Cairns, in a letter to The Times, declared that, if Canadian hopes were built on such a forecast as 350,000,000 bushels, "only a serious crop failure in the Southern Hemisphere can prevent disillusionment."

CONGRATULATES FAIR OFFICIALS

Mayor Leeming Says Willows in Best Condition He Has Ever Seen It

One of the first duties to be performed by Mayor David Leeming on his return from the Mainland, yesterday morning, was to convey his congratulations to Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee of the British Columbia Agricultural Association; Alderman T. W. Hawkins, president, and W. H. Mearns, secretary, for the manner in which the grounds had been improved.

The three called upon the Mayor in the morning to discuss fair matters with him, and His Worship took the opportunity of expressing his gratification over the improvements that have been effected this year.

"The buildings are looking spick and span with their new coats of paint. The roofs are reshingled, and, what is even more noticeable, the grounds have been well laid out and cultivated," the Mayor declared.

"It is important that the citizens should take a pride in this exhibition plant of ours. It represents an investment of nearly $200,000, if we take the assessment figures as a basis. The land is valued at $56,480, and the improvements at $122,080. It is a wonderful plant, and one that should receive the wholehearted support of the public during fair week," the Mayor said.

ESQUIMALT IN FINE CONDITION

Splendid Financial Position Shown in Half-Yearly Statement

If tax returns and receipts continue to pour into the municipal treasury in the splendid manner they have during the first six months of the year, Esquimalt will finish the current year in an extremely good financial condition, the half-yearly statement issued by the municipal council, last night, showed.

Total receipts until June 30 were $170,805.72, against an estimate of $141,208.19. However, it was pointed out that the first figure included a $38,000 bank loan, $11,000 in bank funds and over $2,000 in relief grants, all of which were not included in the 1934 estimates.

Another important factor in the returns was $27,291 received from sale of a 1933 debenture issue.

TAX RETURNS GOOD

The 1934 estimate from tax rates and assessments was $89,142.96. The auditor's statement showed that during the six-month period $78,515.24 had been paid into the municipal treasury in this department. Reeve Alex Lockley and members of the council were greatly pleased with the returns.

In the general tax list it was revealed that $65,198 had been paid on a $71,442 estimate for the year. More than $1,000 more than budget requirements had been received from taxpayers in arrears, $4,264 having been paid on a $3,000 estimate; $5,939 had been collected on sewer rentals. The year's estimate was $6,350; $2,819 have been received in delinquent taxes.

SALE PROCEEDS HIGH

Proceeds from tax sales to June 30 were $1,776 after budgeting for $2,000. Some $3,300 is still to be collected from the Provincial Government in motor licence fees.

In the statement of disbursements, it was found that no department had spent more than half of its estimate for the year. In the public works department, $5,161 had been spent. The year's estimate was $11,900. Policing the municipality for the six months has cost ratepayers $2,943. The 1934 estimate was $6,300.

A footnote to the statement showed that $139.03 had been received by the municipal treasurer for 1935 taxes.

During the same period, the municipality has returned to the bank on overdraft payments $69,000. The council only estimated a return of $31,000 for the year.

RETAIL MERCHANTS FILE WAGE SCHEDULE

hours or more in a week, and the employee who may be required to serve only part time, and we recommend a very careful consideration by the Industrial Relations Board to that class of laborer, whether male or female, who is called upon to serve a few hours each day, but by so doing is prevented from engaging in any other occupation.

"It is reported that some employees in the mercantile industry are engaged to serve limited hours each day, and it is respectfully pointed out that when this becomes a practice of an employer, he certainly is placed in a very advantageous position over his competitor who retains the services of his employee for a full day. It is respectfully recommended that for this class of labor there should be a minimum of remuneration and that the hourly rate of wages should be in excess of the average minimum rate.

EXPERIENCE AND ABILITY

"Without an exception," the brief continues, "the executives of all our classifications are of the opinion, however, that the only sound principle upon which a minimum wage can be based is to recognize that in the mercantile industry employees are required to have a varying degree of skill and knowledge, and that such minimum wage should have a relationship to the experience and ability of the employee. In the various meetings we have held, it has been very evident that, in order to make a recommendation which would be representative, it was necessary to deal with this matter from the standpoint of the major classification."

GROCERY EMPLOYEES

Recommendations concerning the grocers are given in the brief as follows: "The grocers' executive recommends that the minimum wage for male employees, not exceeding a forty-hour week, shall be $15. For an employee serving less than forty hours per week, that the hourly rate shall be forty cents, and that the minimum remuneration to any employee for services rendered on any one day shall not be less than the amount he would have received had he served four hours." The board approved sections four and five dealing with male employees eighteen to twenty-one years of age.

MEAT DEALERS

The recommendations concerning meat dealers sets out the following: "This classification would appear to be divided into two parts, namely a journeyman, or experienced meat cutter, and a salesman, who simply serves the customer, but who is not experienced in meat cutting. For the exclusive salesman, the meat dealers approve of the recommendations of the grocers, but for the experienced meat cutter it is recommended that the minimum shall be $20 per week, and fifty cents an hour for those serving less than the forty-hour week."

SERVICE STATIONS

The final recommendation deals with service stations and garages. "The minimum wage for this classification, of $15, is also approved in so far as the service station employee is concerned. It is recommended, however, that the minimum wage for mechanics shall be $20 per week, and that in the case where a service station attendant is also a qualified mechanic and where he is used in this capacity that the hourly rate shall be at least the minimum that applies to mechanics, namely, $20 per week."

The board also requests a thorough investigation into the distribution of gasoline in the province. "We have formerly requested your board to make a thorough investigation into the distribution of gasoline in this province, and in this connection we also respectfully request that some protection should be afforded mechanics who are required to report for duty and stand by, at their own expense, until such time as a job may be available.

FAVOR $20 WEEK

"An invitation was extended to merchants, other than our members, to attend a joint meeting of the following classifications: Druggists, shoes, furniture and house furnishings, men's furnishings and clothing, furs, music and radio, hardware, drygoods and stationery, the net result of the discussion being that a decided majority of the executives of these classifications favor a minimum wage of $20. The meeting was unable to arrive at a unanimous decision, and in this connection we can only report that the result of this meeting was that there exists a difference of opinion in these classifications as to whether the minimum should be $15 or $20 per week," the brief concluded.

Following the meeting with the Industrial Relations Board, Mr. Matthews stated that the recommendations submitted by the British Columbia board of the Canadian association were somewhat in excess of what the Industrial Relations Board proposes to set up.

DILLINGER TRAPPED AND SHOT TO DEATH

companion was the lure of the $10,000 Federal reward.

Meanwhile, a coroner's jury brought in a formal verdict of justifiable homicide, praised the unnamed slayers and demanded that the remainder of the gang be brought in "dead or alive."

John Dillinger, Sr., father of the desperado, and Hubert Dillinger, a half-brother, arrived at the undertaking parlor in mid-afternoon. Arrangements were made to take the relatives to the Cook County morgue, where the battered body was to be held until tomorrow morning.

"A YELLOW RAT"

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the United States Federal Investigattion Division, said that every effort would be made to apprehend Dillinger's associates. Of Dillinger, he said:

"He was just a yellow rat that the country may consider itself fortunate to be rid of. There are other rats still to be gotten, however, and we are not taking any time off to celebrate about Dillinger."

Hoover named George "Baby Face" Nelson, alais Lester M. Gillis, a henchman of Dillinger, as successor of his late chief as, Public Enemy No. 1. Nelson, he said, and John Hamilton and Homer van Meter, other Dillinger lieutenants, headed the list of those still to be "gotten."

AN "INSIDE STORY"

An "inside story" of the killing of John Dillinger gave much of the credit to Sergeant Martin Zarkovich, of the East Chicago, Ind., police force, a friend of Officer William P. O'Malley, slain in the $20,000 hold-up of the First National Bank of East Chicago, January 15.

Zarkovich, it was said, spent his furlough on Chicago's North Side and made the acquaintance of a woman friend of Dillinger, believed to have been the "girl in the red dress." The acquaintance was made through a "talkative" male friend in a saloon.

The policeman "played up" to the girl, pointed out what could be done with her share of the reward, and persuaded her to sell out Dillinger.

Yesterday, the story went, the woman got word to Zarkovich that Dillinger would attend the Biograph Theatre. The woman was believed to have accompanied him to the movie.

FIFTEEN ON WATCH

Fifteen Federal agents, under the command of Melvin Purvis, head of the Department of Justice Investigation Bureau, stationed themselves around the theatre. They waited until Dillinger came out. He turned east and walked within three feet of Purvis, standing in a doorway as he gave the signal. The pistols of Federal agents barked, and Dillinger fell mortally wounded, the victim, it was believed, of his weakness for women.

START NEW HUNT

DETROIT, July 23 (AP).—City and state police concentrated their forces here today in a new hunt for the remnants of John Dillinger's outlaw gang, after receiving a report that an automobile believed to have been used by George "Baby Face" Nelson in fleeing from Sandusky, O., was used here in a daylight holdup.

A car answering the description was used in the holdup here this afternoon of Howard Saxby, manager of a chain grocery store in West Chicago Boulevard.

MAYOR AND REEVE BACK

Learn of Problems Facing Fraser Valley Municipalities on Tour

Mayor David Leeming and Reeve William Crouch, members of the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, returned from a tour of the Fraser Valley municipalities, yesterday, with a fuller understanding of the problems that face those corporations.

They were the guests of the Fraser Valley Reeves' Association, and for three days they toured through the various organized areas of the valley.

"The last day of our stay we devoted entirely to Surrey, the largest municipality in the province," the Mayor said. "It is 155 square miles, I believe, and certainly has very serious problems to face.

"We also visited Delta and White Rock. I spoke at a luncheon tendered us in White Rock. We certainly were made acquainted with the problems confronting the various municipalities. This is important to us, since when matters are brought before the union at the next convention, we will be in a better position to deal with them in a more intelligent manner. On the whole, I think the tour was really worth while and of great educational value," the Mayor concluded.

Fleets Join in Honoring Officer

ISTAMBUL, July 23 (CP-Havas).—Warships of the British and Turkish fleets joined in a ceremony, yesterday, off Samos, in memory of Surgeon-Lieutenant J. W. Robinson, of H.M.S. Devonshire, whose accidental shooting by a Turkish sentry, on July 14, led to a diplomatic incident between the two countries.

WAGES BOARD CONVENES HERE

Argument Heard on Minimum Wage for Wholesale and Retail Lines

Representations from the Vancouver Board of Trade, the Retail Clerks' Association, wholesale and retail concerns, were heard yesterday by the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board, at a private sitting. The board is examining the position of hours and wages in mercantile establishments, holding sittings both morning and afternoon.

C. P. W. Schwengers and Major Victor MacLean, of the Vancouver Board of Trade; H. Hollins, representing retail clerks; A. Morrison, of Marshall Wells, Ltd., and George Mathews, of the Retail Merchants' Association, addressed the board during the day.

There has been tentative talk of fixing a minimum wage of $15 weekly for adult male clerks, truckers and warehousemen, though no decision has yet been reached, it is understood. The present hearings were explained as chiefly to hear argument from employers and employees in retail and wholesale trade, with a view to action later.

ANNUAL PICNICS HELD ON SUNDAY

Foresters and Eagles Have Well-Attended Outings—Sport Programmes Arranged

Two fraternal organizations held their annual picnics on Sunday. They were the Ancient Order of Foresters and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The A.O.F. combined its picnic with the observance of the centenary of the organization's founding in England. Nearly 200 persons attended the picnic, which was held at Elk Lake.

A splendid programme of sports was conducted, and all arrangements were made for providing the picnickers with tea and coffee.

The Eagles held their picnic at Beaver Lake. Nearly 250 persons attended and participated in a programme of twenty-five sport events, including a baseball game and tug-of-war between the single and married men. The single men won the game, and the married men the tug-of-war.

James Dupen and J. Hughes, veteran members of the lodge, were guests of honor.

ONE KILLED IN STORM

Big Crowd Hears Popular Band in Sunday Offering

Under the direction of Lieutenant James Miller the band of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment entertained large crowds at the regular Sunday afternoon concert at Beacon Hill Park, the attendance being one of the largest of the season.

Weather conditions were ideal, and hundreds of citizens sought the comfort and coolness of the shaded park, and had an opportunity of hearing a fine programme of band numbers, which included the following:

March, "Spirit of Peace," by Franko Edwin Goldman; selection from "Katinka," waltz, "Amoretten Tanze," by Gung'l; a Highland patroi, "The Wee Macgregor," by Amers; an idyl, "The Whispering of the Flowers," by Von Blon was played as (a) and (b) numbers; southern fantasie, "Reminiscences of the Plantation," by Chambers. The melody "Dixie" was given in turn to each section of the band in variations. Cornet solos by Bandsman J. Mossop, "Sylvia," by Speaks, and "Trees," by Rashbash. Selections from "Classica"; Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," Rachmaninoff's "Prelude," "William Tell Overture," a valse from "Faust," Handel's "Largo" and Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsodie."

ATLIN ANGRY AT DISMISSAL

Summary Action in Discharging Commissioner Causes Indignation

(Special to The Colonist)

ATLIN, July 23.—Atlin is angry. Citizens generally, and mining interests in particular, are on the war path in protest against the political axe-wielding that has taken the head of W. W. Wright, Government agent and gold commissioner.

What promises to be another incident similar to the firing of Norman Watt, Government agent at Prince Rupert, by the former Administration, is promised by Atlin citizens. The whole matter will be brought up before the next session of the Legislature, if no redress is obtained by that time.

In the meantime, petitions and protests against the summary dismissal of Mr. Wright are going forward to Victoria, and demands are being made for the naming of specific charges against him which might warrant his being discharged from the Government service.

The Atlin Board of Trade has called a special meeting to discuss the matter, while in the town and out in the mining camps, indignation is running high. Everyone speaks in high terms of the efficient manner in which Mr. Wright conducted the business of the Government.

RELIEF SYSTEM REMAINS SAME

Provincial Government Advises City, However, That Recipients Must Reregister

The City Council was advised by letter, yesterday, from the Provincial Government that direct relief would be administered on the same basis as in the past, until something more definite was obtained from the Dominion Government.

However, all those on relief will be struck off the rolls at the end of the month and asked to reregister.

It is hoped by officials that in the reregistration both the city and the province may be able to eliminate many now on relief who possibly should not be public charges.

SIX DIE IN TAXI CRASH

Ellensburg Residents Burned to Death Following Smash on Canyon Road

YAKIMA, Wash., July 23 (AP).—Careening around a curve at high speed, a taxi sedan carried six persons to their deaths last night, when it crashed into three trucks on the Canyon Road between here and Ellensburg.

A seventh occupant of the car was injured so seriously he was expected to die. Five of the victims were killed instantly. The bodies of two of them burned beyond recognition, when the taxi, sprayed with gasoline, burst into flames.

LIST OF DEAD

The dead, three men and three women, all from Ellensburg, were: Wesley Lewis, driver of the taxi; Roy Champie, Ellensburg fire chief; Al Razey, service station operator; Mrs. Effa Rankin, bus depot employee; Mildred Kay, twenty-one, dairy co-operative employee; and Eloise Kay, eighteen, high school senior.

Jewel Oliver, an employee of the Ellensburg Fire Department, suffered a fractured skull, fractured jaw, broken arm and several lacerations. He was not expected to live.

STRUCK TRUCKS

Coming toward Yakima on the Canyon Road, a twisting highway which follows the Yakima River, the taxi crashed into a huge truck of the Cascade Truck Company, caromed off into a light delivery truck, and then bounced into a Sunset Motor Freight truck and trailer, all three of which were heading for Seattle.

Mrs. Rankin and Oliver were the only ones not killed instantly, the former dying soon after reaching a hospital. The bodies of Eloise Kay and Razey were burned in the flaming sedan. Rescuers had time to pull Lewis from the taxi before the flames forced them back, but he was already dead. Champie, Mrs. Rankin, Mildred Kay and Oliver were hurled from the car and rolled under the Sunset truck and trailer.

The trailer also caught fire, and Paul Meyer, ambulance driver, was forced to drive through flames to reach the survivors.

RELIEF SYSTEM IS NOT CHANGED

Esquimalt to Carry On Under Present Regulations Until End of Month, Says Council

Relief in Esquimalt will continue until the end of July under the existing scale, the municipal council was informed by E. W. Griffith, Provincial relief administrator, in a circular letter last night. The council indorsed this policy.

Reregistration will start within a few days, and from August 1 no further relief will be granted until definite word has been received from Ottawa, following the planned conference between Provincial and Federal Government authorities.

Mr. Griffith pointed out that changes in scales or existing regulations were "unwise" at this time, due to uncertain agreements with the Dominion Government.

Checking rumors that those on relief did not have to work for their pay, the administrator was emphatic in stating that any able-bodied man refusing to work for his relief can be struck off and his family cared for by scrip.

HOLLYWOOD, July 23 (CP).—Hereafter Joseph I. Breen, assistant to Will Hays, czar of the movies, will look over all stories and scenarios, before the great moguls of the industry decide to screen them. In a move to keep the movies clean, Breen established himself as a one-man censorship board.

Experts Bewildered By Poison Ordeal of Native Witch Doctor

Sinclair Declares Deadly Poison's Triumphant Secret Held From Scientific World by Voodoo Men—Held Knowledge Many Centuries

By GORDON SINCLAIR

COTONOU, Dahomey.—Poisons deadlier than a king cobra's venom, quicker than prussic acid or strychnine, yet painless as a maiden's kiss, are the one triumphant secret West African voodoo doctors hide from the scientific world. Every now and again the outer world hears of slave raiders kidnapping and violating the youth of Liberian villages, of Ivory Coast headhunters swooping down on passing safaris and killing them off, of civil wars and carnivorous orgies among jungle tribesmen.

This sounds spectacular, savage, barbarous. But for every West African who dies to the roll of war drums, fifty shrivel and perish by poison.

Ju ju killers pretend to slay their victims with thought barbs, and sometimes they do; but usually a drop of liquid smaller than a pin head turns the trick.

The Borgias and Queen Grimhild were clumsy pikers in toxicology compared with the average village witch doctor now practising his black arts in the swamp lands of West Africa.

For 6,000 years of recorded history, for centuries before the Egyptians spread their golden empire up the Nile, voodoo men knew the value of mystery and wizardry. They knew the terror of darkness and the panic of the unknown . . . and poison deaths are always mysterious. Somebody, somewhere in West Africa will die of poison before you finish this article.

If you were to turn their bodies over to master chemists, analysts, anatomists or pathologists, the chances are three out of four they would report no visible disease and no traceable poison.

HAVE UNCANNY "POWERS"

They know poisons that will cripple a man's brain overnight. White poisons clearer than water. They can cause madness, they can cause weakness to steal over a man so that he thinks of nothing but his coming death; and his death very promptly comes. If you want proof, I refer you to any doctor from Senegal to the Congo. I refer you to the Rockefeller Foundation, which has just finished sixteen years of research work on the coast. The Foundation was investigating fever, not voodoo, but no man can investigate anything in West Africa without bumping into voodoo. In this case a native laboratory technician employed by the Rockefellers appeared ill. Very ill.

Experts in various phases of medical treatment examined him, but found nothing whatever the matter. He seemed undisturbed. "I am dying," he explained fatalistically.

"Nonsense," the doctors scoffed. "There is nothing wrong with you." But there was, and they knew it. The man grew weaker, greyer, more hollow. They asked him one day if there was anything he could do to save his own life.

"Yes," he answered. "But I haven't the time or the money to get it." "Get what?" "White magic . . . I must travel to my own village . . . my own ju ju man can lift the spell . . . It will take many weeks."

They sent that man to his own village, satisfied they never would see him again. He was back in three months, whistling and cheerful as a puppy dog.

EXPERTS ARE BEWILDERED

You want further proof? Then read this from page sixty-two of "Something New Out of Africa," a semi-official work of the Royal Air Force, published by Pitman this year, and dedicated, with permission, to the Prince of Wales.

"A witch doctor was arraigned before the district officer for having caused the death of five women. Evidence was that a chief suspected his wife of poisoning him. He called in a witch doctor who filled a cauldron with herbs and water. All the women were required to drink heavily from this until they were sick. As they drank he poured in more water and stirred. About 200 drank and five died, thereby conclusively proving their guilt as poisoners of their husbands, fathers and sweethearts. The five who died had not drunk consecutively from the cauldron. The third to drink died first, then number twenty-seven, and so on. An analysis of the stomachs was made and showed no poison. Did they die of fear? Were they guilty? Or did the witch doctor introduce some poison just before they drank? If so, why didn't it show in the analysis . . . These witch doctors and rainmakers are most intelligent and hold great power. Natives are naturally frightened of them, and terribly superstitious; they have strong personalities and a certain amount of luck. They often put spells on the natives to make them ill, to kill their wives or destroy crops. This sounds incredible, but is a fact. British doctors in Africa admit it freely and in all diagnosis make it their first care to find out if a spell has been cast and by whom, so that it can be quickly removed.

"These spells can be cast accidentally, and often unintentionally. Are they a form of hypnotism or low resistance? We don't know. Nor do we know how these witch doctors get their information. An intelligence system perhaps? The beat of drums Spies? Opportunism? Probably a combination of all three. The fact is, however, they can predict accurately and can frequently find property in an uncanny manner."

I had this R.A.F. book with me and asked many voodoo men about the poison cauldron ordeal. One man explained that he put imps and elfs in with his poison. These elfs had powerful eyes. The victim drank them down with the poison. They at once took a look at his heart. If his heart was black, he was a murderer. He deserved to die. Therefore, the elfs stayed inside his body and killed him. However, if the heart was red, the drinker was innocent. The elf then came up as quickly as he went down. A silly story, but it explained the fact that those who didn't vomit up the poison quickly, died; those who did bring it up, lived.

APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY

A better explanation came from Dr. Sapara, the British-trained medicine man of Lagos. "Poison ordeals are old stuff and crude," he explained. "They are backwoods behavior, and yet they work. An innocent man being compelled to submit to a poison ordeal will toss off his brew quickly as something to have done with. He knows he's innocent, and has faith in the attending doctor. A guilty man is in terror. He sips, but he's frightened to drink it all. What he does drink, he drinks slowly. The particular barks and herbs used have a terribly nauseating effect if taken quickly. They turn a stomach and come up at once, causing no damage. But if taken slowly they are deadly. But such things are crude, fit only for bush."

Most of the actual cases I came across also were crude. You don't hear about the perfect crimes. There were cases where poison was spread on a man's sleeping mat; cases where it was put along the path he usually walked, with here and there a pointed stick to make a tiny opening in his foot; or, crudest of all, put in his food. This is nearly always done by the wife. More subtle were the cases where men, apparently bosom friends, broke a kola nut as they met. The nut breaks in five pieces. The victim is invited to choose one. The host takes another. They both chew. In a few days one man is dead. Why?

The first part of that "why" is easy. The man who broke the nut, the killer, has deadly poison in a tiny sack behind his thumbnail. As he breaks the nut this tasteless fluid soaks into one of the pieces. There is a bit of palaver while the nuts spread across the hand, giving the poison time to soak in. That part's easy. But with five pieces to choose from, how does the victim always get the lethal dose? He is supposed to take that piece of nut nearest his host's heart . . . perhaps he does, and dies.

STATES ORIENT GREAT MARKET

B. A. MacDonald Declares China Has Vital Need for Canadian Products

Canada may well look to China as a great market in the future, as the Orient has a vital need for such Canadian products as lumber, railroad ties, pulp and wheat, Bruce A. MacDonald, assistant Canadian trade commissioner at Shanghai, said yesterday. On a one-day visit to Victoria, Mr. MacDonald was the guest of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie.

Mr. MacDonald returned on the afternoon boat to Vancouver, where he will board Ss. Empress of Canada this week for the Orient.

China, although greatly needing Canada's products, today, is too poor to pay for them, the trade commissioner explained. However, Mr. MacDonald said he, personally, believed the Orient would in the future become Canada's third largest market.

The visitor, in speaking of the Chinese, paid them a high compliment and referred to them as "wonderful people." He expressed the hope that Canadians would soon come to know them better.

Ship's Name Puzzler for Waterfront

A Greek freighter is likely to start a game along Victoria's waterfront that will surpass the crossword puzzle craze, and even the schoolboy game of finding the longest word in the dictionary.

The name of the freighter is Elkatontarchosdrakoulis, which is the height of something or other, and at least should be inscribed in the Hall of Fame as the most unpronouncable ship's name, so far, found on this coast.

Although no confirmation could be obtained, it was believed the wireless operator at Gonzales endeavored to eliminate the static from the air for some time before he realized it was a ship's name that was coming to him over the air last night. The vessel was reported 700 miles from Estevan, bound for Vancouver.

Excursion to Bring Baseball Team Here

The steamer Tacoma, in addition to bringing an excursion party from Seattle and Port Townsend this afternoon, also will bring a baseball team from the latter port. This team will meet the Victoria Indians at the Royal Athletic Park shortly after the ship docks.

The Tacoma is expected to dock at 2 o'clock, and sail again at 6 o'clock. As this is the only time during the season that the vessel calls at Port Townsend en route to Victoria, a large party of holiday-makers is expected to debark from the ship here.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITES

Choral Service and Profusion of Flowers at Funeral of Late Harry J. O'Leary

Representative Victorians from all walks of life, including many from pioneer days in the city, attended at St. Andrew's Cathedral at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, to pay an impressive last tribute to the late Harry J. O'Leary, whose death followed retirement within recent years from the post of Deputy Chief of Police and Inspector of Detectives in this city. Requiem Mass was sung at a fully choral service. Interment followed at Ross Bay Cemetery.

As tribute to genuine esteem in which the late Mr. O'Leary was generally held, the last rites were attended by several hundred persons from a cross-section of the official and private life of the city and its environs. His Worship, Mayor David Leeming; members of the board of police commissioners; representatives of city and district councils; ranking officers of Provincial, city and district police forces; and groups from other city departments were among official parties present.

In addition there were representatives from Roman Catholic and other organizations with which Mr. O'Leary had been identified, including the Sisters of St. Ann, the Knights of Columbus, the Young Men's Institute, St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Holy Name Society, the Catholic Children's Society, the Native Sons of Canada, and others.

WIDELY ATTENDED

The funeral cortege was one of the largest in recent times, and was featured by a profusion of exquisite flowers.

The service was conducted both at the cathedral and at the graveside by Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette, who was assisted by Rev. Father Sharkey, and Rev. Father Roland Roberts.

Honorary pallbearers included Detective Inspector John McLellan, and Detectives William Stark, John Rogers, Walter Calwell, Charles Cremer and Pearon Woodburn. Active pallbearers were George M. Perdue, George Bra'y, W. P. Regan, A. G. Morry, Frank Doherty and Alec McDermott.

Chief Thomas Heatley, Inspector John T. Boulton attended, with Sergeant James Florence and an escort of twelve officers from the city force. Inspector Robert Owens and a detachment were present from the Provincial Police. In addition there were representatives of district police forces surrounding Victoria.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Isabella M. I. Todd Succumbs at City Home —Funeral Today

Mrs. Isabella M. Ingram Todd passed away, Sunday, at the family home, 625 Niagara Street, in her eighty-sixth year. She was the widow of Charles E. Todd.

In Mrs. Todd's death, another link with pioneering days is severed. Born in the North of Ireland, she came to Victoria with her sister in 1872. The following year she married Mr. Todd, then junior member for Kootenay in the first House of Commons after Confederation.

Later, Mr. Todd became superintendent of Provincial Police, and for about fifteen years prior to his death in Port Simpson, in 1902, he held the position of Indian agent on the northwest coast of British Columbia. Since her husband's death, Mrs. Todd had made her home with her niece, Mrs. A. J. Dallain, and owing to poor health in later years had lived a very retired life.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. William C. Duncan, of Duncan, and nieces and nephews in this province, Australia, New Zealand and Ireland.

Funeral services will be conducted this morning, at 10:30 o'clock, at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors, Rev. F. L. Stephenson officiating. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park. It is requested no flowers be sent.

Musical People Visiting at Banff

BANFF, July 23.—Among interesting visitors at Banff Springs Hotel in the Canadian Rockies today were Norman Wilks, internationally-known pianist, and Dalton Baker, baritone, of Toronto, who motored to the Canadian Pacific resort from Calgary and spent the day exploring the scenic beauties in the immediate vicinity of the hotel. Mr. Wilks and Mr. Baker are conducting master classes in Calgary during the month of July and will pay another brief visit to Banff before leaving to direct a similar school in Vancouver during August.

With Mrs. Burton Kurth, contralto, of Vancouver, who is spending the week-end with Miss Catherine Wright, New York, contralto, now Summer soloist at Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise. They were guests of former friends at tea in the Fairholm Lounge of the Banff resort before returning to Calgary.

Dead Madam—I am sorry to tell you that I can't come to work for you today, because a few days ago I got my hand caught in a railway carriage door, which is now healing rapidly.—Yours truly, Mrs. P——.

BRITISH LABOR'S ATTITUDE

The Labor Party in Britain is opposing the provision being made for doubling the strength of the Royal Air Force during the course of the next four years. This plan has been considered necessary because of the growing air strength of other nations. Britain, very naturally, does not wish to lag behind. She is a country extremely vulnerable from the air and it is essential that defence in this particular should be all that is required, even though all preparations when any crisis ensues may be found inadequate because of the potentialities of attack by aircraft.

It is difficult to appraise the Labor attitude in Britain. Presumably it is because of the desire that Britain should continue to reduce armaments despite the fact that other countries are constantly increasing military strength of all sorts. Following the Labor argument to its logical conclusion would reduce Britain to a second or third class Power and seemingly the followers of Mr. George Lansbury would be satisfied if such a consummation were reached. There is, however, a considerably body of patriotic people left, not only in Britain but throughout the Empire, who believe it is essential that recognition should be given to the conception that self-preservation is the first law of nature.

It was inevitable that there should be a reaction to Britain's many gestures on behalf of disarmament. While these gestures were being made other countries were constantly and consistently strengthening their defences. Britain in the last eight years has been the only Power to show a decrease in her outlays on armament building, and that decrease reached 15 per cent. Italy increased outlays on armaments by 9 1-2 per cent, the United States by 10 per cent, Germany by 12 per cent, Japan by 80 per cent, France by 100 per cent and Russia by 197 per cent.

The paradox of the situation affecting the Labor attitude is that its exponents laud to the high heavens most of the experiments for which Soviet Russia is responsible while decrying the policies of their own country. The assumption would seem to be that the remarkable armament increases in Russia are approved by British Labor, while at the same time any attempt on the part of Britain to safeguard herself in an adequate way does not meet with acquiescence from Mr. Lansbury and his followers. An attitude of this character is not understandable.

THE END OF DILLINGER

It was a rough and ready dispensation that brought the notorious John Dillinger, wanted American criminal, to the end of his career. That he should have been shot out of hand, while no attempt was made to arrest him, is something in the processes of the law that it is difficult to understand. Apparently in the criminal code of the United States there must be some form of outlawry which enables a criminal who has defied attempts at capture over some specified period, or who has escaped from jail, to be shot at sight. The fact is that the Chicago police officials could have arrested Dillinger without trouble and returned him to jail, as well as trying him for those crimes which he is supposed to have committed during his latest term of freedom. He has been given the most summary kind of justice possibly because under the New Deal he was designated as "public enemy No. 1."

AMERICAN UNREST

It is hinted that the main cause of the labor unrest in the United States is due to the rising cost of living and the fact that wages are not keeping pace with that increase. One of the objects of the NRA policies is to stimulate and compel a general advance in prices. What has happened is that exports have been checked and consumers have been penalized. There has been governmental interference in industry; there has been inflation. Now the increasing cost of living is bearing down heavily on the consuming masses.

The Government appears to see no way out of the difficulty save by a new dose of inflation, which, of course, is bound to aggravate the evil. The trend of events does not foreshadow satisfactory results in the life of the nation. It is difficult to forecast what will be the climax of the evil of increasing prices but that it will be drastic hardly anyone informed of the situation can deny. In the meantime there are labor disturbances. There is unrest that is growing. The whole lesson of the situation that has developed is that there can be too much interference by government with business and industry. Apart from outright and proclaimed Socialism there has perhaps never been so much interference and bureaucracy introduced into industry in any country as at present in the United States.

GERMANY'S SEA POWER

With the launching of Germany's third pocket-battleship that country, while still keeping technically within the terms of naval limitations imposed by the Treaty of Versailles, is definitely strengthening her sea forces. It is claimed that the new pocket battleships can fight successfully with vessels of greater size. The fact is that Germany has developed a type of naval architecture which enables her to strengthen her Navy even though stopped from that course by international sanction.

The new battleship has been named after Admiral von Spee, the victor of Coronel. It was christened by the daughter of the late Admiral, and it is significant that the military spirit in Germany is far from dead because Admiral Faeder, Chief of the German Naval Staff, in speaking on the occasion described the victory of Coronel on November 1, 1914, as both political and military, "far exceeding the limits of an ordinary success in arms." The claim he makes is that the German vessels fought in open battle with an equal opponent, no mention being made of the fact that in armor-plating and gun-power the strengths were wholly unequal. However, when referring to the Falkland Islands fight on December 8, of the same year, Admiral Faeder referred to the most modern British fighting units as being employed, which was true enough. In either case it was a matter of superiority in gun-power and armor plating.

Admiral Faeder bade his hearers bear in mind the legacy of the Falkland Islands, and "to be forever fighters and defenders of the Fatherland's greatness and the honor of the flag." The new battleship he described as "a fighter for Germany's good and her right to live as a free and equal people among other free nations."

POPULARITY OF MARRIAGE

Canada's marriage rate in 1929 was 7.9 per 1,000 of the population. Since then there has been something of a falling off from the 77,288 marriages of that year, but that has been a matter of economics. There is recovery evidenced in the marriage rate in the first five months of the present year when a gain of 6½ per cent was shown over the same months in 1933.

It may be that wedded life has less durability than it used to have, but it is none the less popular. All statistics go to show that throughout the world there are proportionately more married persons than there ever were before. Conversely there are fewer unmarried. Sexologists claim that in these latter days more girls postpone marriage, preferring to "have a good time," but statistics do not support this viewpoint. Moreover, it is claimed that among those who marry greater unhappiness ensues than in the past. That may be the case, but statistics in this country illustrate that 94 per cent of marriages are successful. The average age of Canadian brides is 25, which is as low as any year in the past two decades. Viewed from the standpoint of any statistics there is no decline in the popularity of marriage. As The Ottawa Journal says, "the facts and all the figures show that young women of today want to marry just as much as their mothers did and just as early, and sometimes a lot oftener."

"EMPIRE" OR "COMMONWEALTH"

The suggestion put forward in London that "Commonwealth Day" should be substituted strikes us as decidedly inept. Mr. Ramsbotham, in the House of Commons, described it, rightly enough, as "somewhat academic and doctrinaire." But it is something more than that. "Commonwealth" is simply the short for "British Commonwealth of Nations," and has always been used, primarily at any rate, as a descriptive term for Great Britain and the self-governing Dominions. It cannot, without a change in meaning, be made to include the innumerable colonies which are not, and for the most part never can be, nations. If "Commonwealth Day" were substituted, these colonies would feel that they were left out in the cold when the annual celebrations took place. Nigeria, Trinidad, the Malay States (to pick three at random) could not have the same feeling for Commonwealth Day as for Empire Day. This is the true ground of objection. . . . No doubt an alteration would be welcomed by the small section in this country that has never been able to realize the change long ago effected in the meaning of Empire, and still thinks of the word in terms of Babylon, Assyria, or the Grand Mogul. But even this persistent misunderstanding must disappear in time. Meanwhile, Empire remains the only word that fully comprehends all the territories in the world which are bound together by a common allegiance to the King, and Empire Day should remain the day on which they celebrate their united front to the problems of the world.—The Cape Argus.

EARLY SUMMER

In early Summer now the world anew
Is fashioned by the south wind and the sun
And that dark sorcery which no man knows.
The greening woods, the orchards in full blow
The bright marsh-marigolds by pasture streams,
And hollyhocks along the garden wall—
The scene is like a gorgeous tapestry
Hung in some old gray castle by the sea,
Along whose corridors no footfall sounds,
And only fragrant wings with ghostly hands
Its hallowed timeless reveries disturb.
And so within the Summer's pageantry
Along austere New England's shadowed ways
Immortal calm of loveliness abides.
—Bliss Carman, in "Sanctuary."

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

They has ta'en awa' Jamie,
The flower o' them a'.

Many hearts are heavy and many countenances sad in the ranks of the lawn bowlers of Victoria and all the districts round about today. James Munro is not, for death took him while engaged in his favorite game on the green. Mr. Munro's last words were characteristic of the man, addressed to his wife and friends who were engaged in kindly ministrations, "I am sorry to have caused so much trouble." His thoughts were never of self, but always of others.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. James Munro played the game of life together, and they were playing the game of bowls together when the summons came which caused the first division in the lives of a kind and gentle husband and devoted wife. The affair was tragic, for Mr. Munro was a fine specimen of physical manhood, tall, strong and active on his feet, as most men of twenty-five, notwithstanding his three-score years. Two members of the Bowling Club have died suddenly within a period of a few months. None of those who are left expected that James Munro would be the next to respond to the last summons.

* * *

The first occasion on which we saw Mr. and Mrs. James Munro standing together on the bowling green the appearance of the couple was so striking that it reminded us of something said by an Eastern visitor about the marriage of the late William and Mrs. Templeman. The remark was that they were the handsomest couple ever united for life in the eastern districts of Ontario. When looking at Mr. and Mrs. Munro standing together the thought entered our mind that they must have been the handsomest pair ever married in the county of Banff, Scotland. Afterwards when Mrs. Munro told us that she had one child, a daughter, we ventured the compliment that such a girl must be developing into a beautiful woman.

* * *

But death is no respecter of persons, and carries into the lives of all sorrow too deep to be expressed in mere words and commonplace expressions of sympathy; it takes toll of the strong and the feeble regardless of circumstances; too often it lays its clammy hand upon those who can ill be spared. Those of us who have had some experience of the vicissitudes of life realise what it means to a household when the postman fails to leave an expected letter at the door, or when it is vain to listen for the "sound of welcome footsteps, or a dear, familiar voice."

* * *

In the case of James Munro, all we can do is pay respects to his memory, remember what a cheerful soul was encased in his well-proportioned body; that he must have played the game of life as cheerfully as he played the game of bowls; that win or loose made no difference; that both sides cannot win; that the spirit in which defeat is accepted is more important than the rewards of victory. All who have had the pleasure and the profit of knowing Mr. Munro will lament his untimely death and sincerely sympathize with Mrs. Munro and Marjorie in their time of sorrow.

* * *

Curious, but possibly not incomprehensible, are the effects of unexpected shocks upon the human mind. The tragedy (it was in the fullest sense of the word a tragedy) of the Lake Hill bowling green has had such a devastating effect upon our mind that we cannot think or write about current or common events. All other thoughts are submerged in the thought of the sorrow which has fallen upon that desolated household in the Marigold district of Victoria.

GYRO PICNIC IS WELL ATTENDED

Local Club's Annual Outing Proves Great Success—Tour Islands in Yacht

Voted as one of the most successful outings ever sponsored by the club, the annual Gyro picnic was held Sunday, at Finnerty Bay, through the courtesy of Gyro Cuthbert Holmes. Some 150 persons, including members, their wives and families, were present.

A lengthy programme of sports occupied attention of those present during the afternoon. Throughout the day Major E. G. Beaumont carried excusion parties on a tour of the Islands near Gordon Head, on his yacht.

Gyro Herbert Butt, assisted by Gyros Angus W. McIntyre and William Hudson, were in charge of the picnic.

SEASONED SPINSTER

Little Jo, seven years old, remarked as she helped herself to the last biscuit on the plate: "This won't matter to me, for I've been an old maid all my life, anyhow."

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

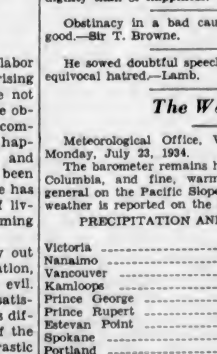

SECOND HAND LOW

In the game of whist they used to say that second hand should always play low and third hand should always play high. In contract you will hear this ancient adage quoted without a full understanding of what it means or should mean. As a matter of fact, this is another instance of the many cases where the word "always" does not apply at the contract bridge table. There are frequent occasions when a defending player should play not low, but high second hand, but in doing so he must, as in all other phases of the game, have a sound and sufficient reason. Generally, the sound reason for second hand's playing high against declarer's lead from either his own hand or dummy is a desire to converse his partner's entry card so that it may be used after the defending side's long suit has been established.

It was a misapprehension of this wise variation of the rule of second hand high that brought disaster in a duplicate game to the East and West pair on the hand below:

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figure after bid refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♠	Pass
1NT(1)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. A bad bid with an almost worthless hand. South should have passed.

The hand itself is of little interest those seemingly pointless collections of cards which are neither fish, flesh, fowl, nor good red herring, but it is a hand of the type which produces in duplicate bridge much greater swings than do those which justify the bidding of slams. The part-score hands in games scored on the match point basis are, contrary to general belief, the "swing" hands, and it was the East and West defence which produced a tremendous swing for North and South here.

West's opening lead was the club seven, which was won in dummy with the jack. When the declarer surveyed his meagre holdings he saw that he must be fortunate indeed if he was to fulfill his contract. His own hand contained but a single entry, the club ace, and his hope of fulfilling his contract hung by the slenderest of threads. Every good bridge player knows that when you cannot achieve anything by your own efforts, strive as you will, you still have one chance remaining and that is that opponents may make mistakes. South, in this instance, decided to bank on that one slender possibility.

From dummy he led the eight of diamonds, on which to his pleasure, as well, it might be said, as to his surprise, East immediately played the ace. A club was returned, which South won perforce, and now led a small diamond, upon which West played the queen and North the king, and again the declarer was delighted to see the jack drop. Now three more rounds of diamonds was taken, South having conserved the seven as a possible entry by the lead of the eight to the second trick. Upon this diamond West discarded one club and the three and two of hearts. East discarded one club, one spade and the heart ten. South now decided to become greedy and led the spade ten, which East won with the queen. East returned his last club, and West cashed three club tricks, but at the end was forced to lead a spade, on which dummy's jack was played, permitting the declarer not only to fulfill his contract, but to make an overtrick. It is, perhaps, needless to add that the post-mortem which followed when East and West scanned the score was heated, and hardly polite.

TOMORROW'S HAND

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

Plans for Two Weeks' C.C.F. Gathering at Saltspring Island Are Completed

Plans for the C.C.F. Summer School are now completed and the first complement of young people and adults will leave for Fulford Harbor, Saltspring Island, at the end of this week. The school is taking the form of an encampment, with suitable indoor accommodation being available as an alternative if the weather should prove unsuitable for camping.

J. S. Woodsworth, national leader of the C.C.F., will deliver two of the lectures and it is hoped that he will be present at the school for five or six days. Among other lecturers taking part in the educational work are Robert Connell, M.P.P., Frank Roberts, Harold Winch, M.P.P., Dr. Lyle Telford, Angus MacInnis, M.P., Mrs. R. P. Steeves, M.P.P.-elect, Miss Mildred Osterhout, and many others.

The first week will be confined to young people between the ages of sixteen and thirty-five. The second week will be open to all ages. Since many who wish to attend the school, young people and adults alike, are also anxious to take part in the anti-war demonstration being organized in Victoria on August 4, by the Federated Council of Youth, every effort is being made towards completing arrangements to effect the necessary transportation from Fulford to Victoria and return on the day of the demonstration.

Since the school will commence next Monday, the entry lists will be closed very shortly. All wishing to attend the school are advised to make application immediately. Already an entry of such proportions has been received as to ensure the school being a success and late comers run the risk of finding all accommodation booked. Applications should be made without delay to the C.C.F. Summer School, 720 Fort Street.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.0 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 20 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of July 24, 1884)

Surprises Congregation—At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, whilst the minister was giving out his text, a portion of which was, "Thou son of David, have mercy on me," a little girl startled the congregation by exclaiming, "Papa! I see David," alluding to a little boy and a playfellow of hers, who was sitting with his parents a few pews off.

Abduction Case—The Chinese abduction case will be continued before the police magistrate this morning. Yesterday, Dr. Jackson was called to attend the youngest of the Chinese girls, but his opinion was that, beyond a little nervousness, there was nothing seriously the matter with her.

Funeral Held—Yesterday afternoon the funeral of Benjamin Williams took place from his late residence, at 3 o'clock. Service was held in Christ Church Cathedral. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased.

Dominion House—Stephen Jones has built a two-story annex to his well-known hotel on Yates Street, near Blanshard. The addition contains eighteen handsomely furnished rooms, all well lighted and ventilated. A spacious hall runs the entire length of the building. The best board and lodging are offered at reasonable rates and Mr. Jones wants it understood emphatically that families with children are not objected to.

MURALS TO REFORM NEW YORK BAD BOYS

WARWICK, N.Y., (UP).—A new idea in reform for delinquent boys is being developed at the New York State Training School for Boys, a modern reformatory, where Jo Cain is working on the largest mural project ever attempted in the United States.

In all, the paintings will cover more than twenty thousand square feet of space, each designed to educate the young inmates of the reformatory and to change their anti-social ideas by showing them the great work of man in every field, etc.

The work was started a year ago by Cain, backed by four well-known individuals and two organizations. The story has been made public only recently because an attempt is now being made to obtain the support of the Federal Government. There are more than thirty buildings being decorated with Cain's "visual education." The boys have shown much interest and enthusiasm.

SOOKE HOLDS CELEBRATION

First Observance of Progress of District Is Set for Tomorrow

Sooke will be in festive dress tomorrow.

Starting promptly at 1 p.m., the first annual celebration of the progress of Sooke and the seventieth anniversary of the Sooke River gold rush, will be observed. An ambitious programme of sports and other events has been arranged by the committee in charge. The scene of activities will be Sooke River Flats.

Proceeds from the programme arranged will go towards erecting a community hall in Sooke, of which residents feel in keen need during the year.

Many challenge shields, cups and other trophies, as well as foodstuffs have been donated by the merchants of Victoria, and those responsible for tomorrow's gala field day are deeply grateful for the fine response they have received.

SPORTS COMMITTEE

C. A. Helgesen, R. Acreman and R. Mugford were appointed a committee to handle the sports programme, consisting of twenty-four events.

Another feature of the day will be the Baby Show for The Victoria Daily Times Cup. Entries have been received from many rural districts on Vancouver Island. Prizes will be awarded all babies entered in the show.

A basket picnic, of course, will be held, to which will be added an al fresco banquet prepared by Sooke fishermen, under the direction of F. Nooney, H. Campbell and N. Baskerville. A contest has also been arranged.

GENERAL OFFICIALS

The general committee in charge of this celebration for funds towards the proposed community hall, follows: H. Goodrich, A. Glinz, G. H. Jones, C. A. Helgesen, A. L. Wilson, R. Robilliard, L. Shields and A. F. Browning.

Some $200 in cash has already been subscribed for the hall, it was reported.

C.C.F. MEETING

SALTSPRING ISLAND, July 23.—Under the auspices of the C.C.F., a meeting was held recently in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. Over 100 were present. The speaker of the evening, Mr. Frank Roberts, of Victoria, was briefly introduced by the chairman, Dr. E. H. Lawson. The subject which the speaker had well in hand was "The World's Crisis and the Way Out."

India has a population of 355,000,000 and only 57,000 telephones — one telephone to every 6,250 people. In the United States there are 948 telephones for every 6,000 inhabitants.

"Light Year" Only Way to Measure Stars' Distance

W. E. Harper Discusses Size and Remoteness of Stellar Bodies at Meeting of Astronomical Society—R. Peters Leads Observation Meeting

Baffling all the powers of human imagination to conceive, were some of the distances and dimensions given by W. E. Harper, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, in his fascinating discussion, last night, before the Astronomical Society at Victoria College, of the question: "How Big Are the Stars, and How Far Away?"

"Their distances vary from a few light years to one hundred thousand light years," he informed his audience at one point, inserting, as if by-the-way, the reminder that a "light year" was six million, million miles.

In beginning his talk, Mr. Harper summarized very briefly the ideas of the stars' size and distance entertained from ancient times. It was only during the past few centuries that science had developed any conception of the stars' remoteness or dimension, and only ninety-six years since the first actual measurement of a star's distance from the earth was made.

STELLAR DISTANCES

A short description was given of the methods used for determining stellar distances, these being similar to those used by the land surveyor, except that the astronomer's base line was the 93,000,000 miles between the earth and the sun. The method of determining the distances of the nearby stars was also similar to that employed by the land surveyor; but for the very distant stars, the spectrum was brought into use, the light being analyzed, and this giving the clue to the star's real brightness and remoteness.

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, by such method, had determined the distance of about 1,500 fixed stars. As already mentioned, these distances varied from a few light years (a light year being six million, million miles) to 100,000 light years; while the distance that separated the stars from each other was comparable to that separating our own star, the sun, from them.

SIZE VARIES

It was shown, also, that the sizes of the stars varied greatly, from tiny bodies measuring but one one-millionth the size of our sun, to giant stars fifty or sixty times as large as our sun.

Lantern slides and stereoscopic views, never previously shown, were used by the speaker to illustrate his remarks. These were exceptionally interesting, some showing comets against a starry background.

After Mr. Harper's address and the discussion that followed, the audience repaired to the terrace for an interesting hour's observation work through a number of refractor and reflector telescopes, most of which were made by enthusiastic amateurs. Observation was done in connection with material prepared by Robert Peters, who took as the subject of his study the three constellations of Libra, with its beautiful star cluster; Scorpio and Lyra, with their several double stars; the three or four nebulae in Scorpio, and the ring nebulae in Lyra. Jupiter and the moon were also studied. Among those who brought telescopes were C. C. Hopkins and L. Hopkins, who had an eight-inch reflector; Mr. Hobday, and Mr. Hughes.

W. Boyd Brydon, the president, who was in the chair, announced that the next lecture would be on Monday, July 30, when J. A. Pearce would discuss: "How Old Are the Stars?"

DOZEN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Governor Orders Inquiry Into Runaway Bus in New York

OSSINING, N.Y., July 23 (AP).—Prosecution for criminal negligence, loomed strongly today in the threefold investigation of the Secor Hill bus tragedy as the death toll mounted to seventeen persons.

Under the direct orders of Governor Herbert Lehman, New York State authorities lent all possible aid to Westchester County officials to determine if alleged negligence on the part of owners and operators of the bus precipitated its wild careening down an Ossining hillside and its plunge off a ramp.

Twelve persons—part of Sunday vacationers from a Brooklyn Democratic club bound for a ball game between their team and one at Sing Sing Prison—perished in the blaze that spread over the bus and lumber yard into which it plunged. Twenty-two others are still confined to hospitals, some not expected to live.

cumstances surrounding the publication of the Notman report, which was said to have "recommended that no further money be spent on the Wayside property," be looked into.

Another point which he requests be investigated is the "heavy sales of Wayside stock on various markets in the period between June 5 and June 15, or later, before the shareholders had received the circular letter on the directors, dated June 15."

He also suggests that the Government discover if Wayside stock was sold "short" and especially "prior to the sacrificing of stock by shareholders."

He also requests that the activities of certain persons, whom he names, be looked into in respect of their dealings in Wayside stock.

When questioned on the request made by Mr. Roberts on behalf of the Toronto shareholders of the Bridge River property, the Attorney-General intimated that investigations had been going on quietly for some days into the affairs of the company. He did not indicate, however, what line his officials were taking, or whether it was intended to enlarge the scope of the inquiry. A most careful study of the whole situation was being made, he declared.

Tired of Everything

IT may not be just the right thing to do—yawning in company, but puppy does not seem to bother about etiquette, and is having his own yawn. The picture was awarded twelfth prize in the June amateur snapshot contest conducted by The Daily Colonist. The photograph was snapped by Mrs. H. McDonald, 301 Franklyn Street, Nanaimo.

YOUTH COUNCIL HOLDS ELECTION

To fill vacancies on the executive committee, the Federated Council of Youth, last night, at the Y.M.C.A., elected Jack Stanton and J. Lamble.

During the evening a general discussion was held regarding the anti-war demonstration scheduled for August 4. A number of the members stated they wished it to be publicly known that the Federated Council of Youth was not the sole sponsorer of the demonstration, but one of a number of organizations.

A meeting of committees to complete plans for the demonstration will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Hall, it was announced.

Miss Hilda Marshall, pianist, and Davis Carey, vocalist, entertained the gathering.

"May I help you to some boiled rice, Mr Smith?" asked the landlady of the new lodger.

"No, thank you," replied Smith, fiercely. "Rice is associated with the worst mistake of my life."

CONSPIRATORS ARE SENTENCED

Eight to Die for Wrecking Trains in Russia—Fifteen Jailed

MOSCOW, July 23 (AP).—Eight conspirators were sentenced to death, today, for wrecking trains and otherwise disorganizing Soviet railways, allegedly in the interests of Japan.

Fifteen other conspirators were given long prison terms by the military tribunal of the Supreme Court. It was charged that the conspirators were members of a well-organized espionage ring.

It was brought out at the trials, held here, that an organization headed by Kim Zayen, a Korean, allegedly sought information about transportation of troops and supplies to the Far East.

STATIONS WRECKED

Wrecks at stations at Chernay, Panki and Eudelnaya, and sabotage at Morumsk, where much machinery and several locomotives were damaged, were attributed to the espionage organization.

Zayen was among those sentenced to death.

Others on whom the death sentence was imposed were Koslov, chief of the Moscow freight depot; Michin, an official of the Kazan Railway; Alexandrovsky and Siastenin, engineers in the locomotive department of the People's Commissariat of Transport; Sviridov, chief of the technical department of the Nuromsk locomotive repairing shop; Borovsky, chief of the Moscow Passaxhisky station, and Muzanov, a locomotive engineer.

Pay Last Tribute To Walter E. Heal At Funeral Rites

Rev. F. Comley officiated, Sunday, at funeral services conducted for Walter E. Heal, Saanich pioneer, who passed away recently. The little church of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, was much too small to accommodate the many friends who gathered to pay their last respects to one whom they had known for many years.

The hymn sung was "Abide With Me." Many beautiful floral offerings were received.

The honorary pallbearers were George Cuthbert, Herbert Stokes, Dick Deverne, William Walkermyer, Josiah Bull and William Munro. Active pallbearers were Jack Oliver, Herbert Taylor, Stanley Goyette, Edin J. Mycock, Harry Brewster and Bert Sansbury. Interment was in St. Michael's Churchyard.

Excellent care is being taken of returned men who suffer from eye trouble as the result of war disabilities, said Captain C. A. In British Columbia, 143 cases are treated every two years, Captain Taylor stated.

SERVICE
Railways provide special summer fares and excursions. You should enquire about them.

Increased use of Railways Means Greater Prosperity for all.

During 1933, the Canadian National Railway System, with its 23,750 miles of track and 4,954 stations or depots (386 of which are in the United States), carried 31,000,000 tons of freight and 9,434,000 passengers. Of the freight, 5,000,000 tons consisted of grain. It paid 76,000 employees $95,000,000 in wages.

These figures clearly demonstrate the important public service rendered by this system—service which continues all the year round under all conditions. In many cases the C.N.R. was the only agency available for its performance, and of course much of the service was of an indispensable nature.

The fidelity of the service provided and its importance are sufficient reasons for Canadians giving the C.N.R. all the patronage possible. There are, however, other inducements, not the least of which is the fact that the welfare of railways is so indissolubly bound up with the prosperity of the country that in using them the whole community is being helped to better times.

The C.N.R. is equipped to provide the maximum in comfort, safety and efficiency. You should use it for all transportation purposes. The present season of the year provides many tempting opportunities for using C.N.R. facilities.

THREE DIE IN OIL BOAT

Toronto Firemen Caught by Explosion in Barge—Many Hurt

TORONTO, July 23 (CP).—Three firemen, trapped in the hold of a blazing oil barge, died today. Their bodies were recovered hours later, after fire department and wrecking scow pumps had cleared the hold of thousands of gallons of mixed oil and water. Tonight, numerous oil trucks and steam pumps are trying to clear the oil from the water of Toronto Harbor, fearing a disastrous fire which will wreak still further damage.

The firemen, District Chief James Dixon, Lieutenant James Henry and Fireman W. Swyre, had entered the hold of the vessel in order to make sure a fire, which drew all district equipment to the scene, was thoroughly extinguished.

BIG EXPLOSION

Hardly had they entered the dark pit when a terrific explosion caught them. Eleven of their comrades on deck, with the owner of the vessel, were blown helter-skelter, some of them falling into the water.

Russell owned the barge, while Talfre was working on the vessel. All the others were from the fire department.

The vessel sank at its moorings, after firemen had battled for hours and tried vainly to rescue their comrades.

BADLY INJURED

The injured were taken to hospital. At least six were said to be seriously burned. Others suffered broken limbs when the blast sent them sailing in the air and to fall on the deck of the barge. One man was blown overboard, but was rescued.

The explosion came after firemen had been summoned when a small blaze broke out on the boat. The oil barge, towed here several weeks ago from Port Dalhousie, had been bought by the John E. Russell Construction Company.

Adventure Lures Naval Officer on Antarctic Voyage

Lieut. R. E. D. Ryder, of Famous Tai-Mo-Shan, Accepts Command of Discovery II—Was One of Five Who Made Perilous Trip From Hongkong to Victoria

Lieutenant R. E. D. Ryder, of H.M.S. Olympus, one of the submarines stationed in China, and a member of the crew of the famous forty-four-foot ketch Tai-Mo-Shan, which dropped anchor in the Inner Harbor last Summer after an adventurous voyage across the Pacific from Hongkong via the Aleutian Islands, is not yet tired of adventure. He will leave England shortly for the Antarctic in the sailing ship Discovery II.

The Tai-Mo-Shan completed the voyage to England after other adventures, and was accorded a great reception by sea cadets at Dartmouth, the tiny craft's first port of call in England.

ACCEPTS COMMAND

Despite the perilous voyage, Lieutenant Ryder has found the call of adventure too strong, and has accepted command of the Discovery II, which is a sailing ship of approximately 120 tons. J. R. Rymill is leader of the Antarctic expedition.

The ship is expected to sail from England early in September, and will remain in the Antarctic approximately two years.

The other members of the Tai-Mo-Shan's crew, Lieutenant-Commander M. B. Sherwood, Lieutenant P. S. Francis, Lieutenant G. S. Salt and Surgeon-Lieutenant C. Ommanney-Davis, are now enjoying their complete furlough, the Admiralty having given permission for them to start their leave from H.M.S. Olympus from the time of their arrival in England.

This was done in recognition of the sailing feat they had accomplished. It will be remembered that the Tai-Mo-Shan had nothing but sails. She had no auxiliary power.

After leaving Victoria, she made her way down the coast to the Panama Canal, and thence to the Atlantic Ocean, where her first serious mishap, after leaving this port, was experienced.

When anchored under the lee of Crooked Island, in the Bahamas, the wind shifted to the west and the Tai-Mo-Shan was dragged and grounded. To avoid damage, she was hauled up, and a fortnight was spent in obtaining jacks and rollers from a neighboring island in order to relaunch her.

The final trip of 3,000 miles was accomplished in thirty days. The first 1,500 miles was covered in nine days, at an average speed of 6.5 knots, which compares favorably with the time made by Dorarde, who crossed the Atlantic in a small craft in seventeen and a half days. During the remainder of the voyage, head winds and heavy weather were experienced, necessitating long beats to windward, when not hove to.

Lieutenant Ryder, before he sails on his expedition to the Antarctic, will write a series of stories relating the adventures of the Tai-Mo-Shan for The London Times.

Brief history of many successes: He was too stupid to know it couldn't be done, so he went ahead and did it.

Commander of Empress of Canada to Make Five More Trips on Orient Run

Captain A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., commander of the Ss. Empress of Canada, which is due to sail for Orient ports on Saturday, will retire from active service at the end of the year, it was learned yesterday. Captain Hailey has been with the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Limited, for thirty-four years.

The skipper of the Canada, once proud possessor of the blue ribbon for speed on the trans-Pacific run, will make five more round trips on the liner before he walks ashore to get accustomed to his "land legs."

OLD SAILING SHIPS

Captain Hailey's shipping career started in his 'teens, when he served on old sailing ships operating to all parts of the world.

He joined the C.P.R. in 1904 as a fourth officer on the old Empress of Japan, whose modern edition now holds the trans-Pacific speed record once held by the Canada.

Ten years later he was given command of the Empress of China, and during the Great War, served under the British Admiralty on the Empress liners, which were used as troop and hospital ships.

MET ROYALTY

For many years Captain Hailey commanded the Empress of Canada.

Captain Hailey has carried many members of royalty on his trans-Pacific crossings. Prince Henry of Connaught traveled with him aboard the old Empress of Japan in 1910. In 1920 his royal guest was the Maharaja of Gaekwar, one of India's most powerful and wealthy princes, who traveled by the Empress of Asia. In 1929 the Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, traveled on the Empress of Asia with Captain Hailey from Yokohama to Victoria, and in the Autumn of 1931 Captain Hailey took out the King and Queen of Siam aboard the Empress of Canada.

DETERMINE CAUSE OF PLANE CRASH

LONDON, July 23 (CP).—The Air Ministry's finding that the crash in which Squadron-Leader Stanley Collett was killed on June 30, resulted from a tall pilot's knee jamming the switch which controlled the supply of gasoline, was concurred in today by the coroner's jury investigating the death.

Collett, son of London's Lord Mayor, was an observer in a bombing plane, which crashed from a height of 100 feet and burst into flames. The pilot was only slightly injured.

PRINCE GEORGE EN ROUTE NORTH

VANCOUVER, July 23 (CP).—Carrying a full passenger list and considerable freight, the Ss. Prince George, of the Canadian National Steamships' coastal fleet, sailed last night for Skagway, Alaska.

Several touring parties from the United States are noted on the passenger list as well as: Mrs. Allan and Hugh Allan, Victoria; Mrs. Brenton Brown and Miss Brown, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Witz, St. Paul, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kendell and daughter, Chicago; Misses M. Robertson, M. Whitmer, L. Woods and G. Wanamaker, Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Marlieve, San Francisco.

Marconi Announces "Micro Waves" as Latest Aid to Navigation During Fog

ROME, July 23 (CP-Havas).—Infallible radio beacons utilizing "micro waves," instead of the beams now broadcast, will make it possible for ships to enter the narrowest ports in fog without any danger, Senator Guglielmo Marconi declared today before leaving Genoa for London.

The micro-wave system is impervious to interference of all kinds, the inventor declared.

"The experiments are making good progress, but we are continuing them until we obtain real and perfect results," Marconi said.

To Install Radio Direction Finding Sets on Princess Ships

VANCOUVER, July 23 (CP).—Radio direction-finding equipment will be installed on the Princess Marguerite and the Princess Kathleen, and other Canadian Pacific coastwise steamships, in compliance with new regulations of the United States Shipping Board. The regulations are applicable to all vessels over 5,000 net tons, carrying passengers in United States waters, even though they do not fly the American flag.

An automatic alarm, which notifies the wireless operator on each vessel whenever his radio set receives a distress call, was recently installed on the Canadian Pacific boats. This was also in compliance with United States Shipping Board regulations.

TOURIST TRAFFIC SHOWS INCREASE

William Baird, Passenger Manager of the C.P.R., Views With Optimism Travel Outlook

BANFF, July 23.—Recent activity at Ottawa for constructive co-ordinated effort by the Dominion Government will act as a stimulant to Canada's attractiveness for overseas visitors, is the opinion of William Baird, passenger traffic manager of Canadian Pacific Steamships.

Increasingly good results in "invisible imports" can be expected, said Mr. Baird, who is at Banff Springs Hotel, today, en route to Vancouver and the Pacific Seaboard. Mr. Baird is accompanied by W. C. Casey, steamships general passenger agent.

Statistics of the independent round the world tours organized every month by the Canadian Pacific in ten different countries throughout the world show a big increase in 1934 over recent years. Most globe trotters, declared Baird, rank Honolulu and Banff together as the two high spots of resort playgrounds in any world-embracing itinerary. Improving economic conditions in New Zealand, Australia and the Orient indicate increasing numbers of overseas visitors to Canada in 1935.

VANCOUVER PORT HAS MANY SHIPS

Six Months' Figures Reveal Increase in Imports but Drop in Export Figures

A total of 7,473 deep-sea vessels were handled at the port of Vancouver during the first six months of this year, as compared with 6,909 ships for the same period last year. It was revealed in a report received from the Vancouver Harbor Commission yesterday.

Net tonnage of ships handled at the port amounted to 5,319,279 tons, as compared with 5,157,412 for the first six months of 1933.

While imports showed an increase, the exports were much lower, the report revealed. Imports for the period amounted to 1,390,546 tons, as compared with 1,242,363 tons for the corresponding period last year.

Exports reached the total of 1,537,182, as compared with 1,948,085 tons during the first six months of 1933.

An interesting phase of the report was contained in the statistics specifying the exports. No concentrates were shipped in 1931, 1932 or 1933, but so far this year a total of 14,325 tons have been exported.

While the export of logs took a big jump, it did not overcome the decrease in the shipment of grain.

Eighteen Vessels Reported for First Fifteen Days of July—Much Lumber Loaded

(Special to The Colonist)

CHEMAINUS, July 23.—Eighteen vessels were handled at this port during the first half of this month, according to customs figures announced today.

Eight of the ships loaded lumber. Chemainus is sharing to a large extent in the revival in the lumber export trade out of British Columbia to British ports.

Chief markets for the freight shipped from here were United Kingdom, Orient, South Africa and the domestic trade.

Vessels calling here during the first fifteen days were Beljeanne, Burrard Chief, Talthybius, Sheaf Holme, Tatsuha Maru, Island Planet, King James, Salvage Queen, Anglo Australian, Trucilla, Teco, C.N. No. 1, Prince John, C.N. No. 2 and Island Comet. Some of these vessels called twice, making the total number of ships for the first half of the month eighteen.

Wedding Is Celebrated On Mainland

The marriage was solemnized at Holy Trinity Cathedral, New Westminster, on Saturday afternoon, of Elisabeth McCowan, daughter of Mr. David Whiteside, K.C., and Mrs. Whiteside, and Mr. Tom Douglas Groves, son of Captain and Mrs. J. D. Groves, of Westholme, V.I. Rev. G. H. Dowker, formerly of Victoria, officiated.

LOVELY BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of white French coin spot net lace over white satin, the gown flaring below the knees and forming a slight train. The back of the bodice was open, but caught at the neckline and waist with buttons. She wore long mittens of net lace. Her long veil, which was the wedding veil of the groom's mother, was caught into a small cap of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was the gift of the groom's mother, a brooch of diamonds and sapphires. She carried a shower muff of orchids and butterfly roses, showering jasmine with roses, swansonia and fern.

Acting as bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Kellior and Miss Margaret Finlay. Miss Kellior chose a frock of chatreuse Jericho crepe, fashioned on long lines, with the sleeves tight from the wrist to the elbow, and then full and opened with slashes. Buttons appeared down the back of the bodice and on the sleeves from the wrist to the elbow. Miss Finlay wore a gown of the same style, but of coral Jericho crepe. Both wore brown shoes and large brown picture hats, with a bow of coral crepe on Miss Kellior's and a bow of chartreuse on Miss Finlay's. They carried shower muffs of gardenias and roses, the shower being of jasmine, roses and swansonia.

The best man was Mr. Phillip Barrett and the ushers were Mr. Paul Phillips, Mr. Bert Barrett, Mr. Douglas McNelli and Mr. John Hulbert.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Whiteside and Mrs. Groves. The former wore a dress of powder blue lace, with a deeper blue velvet girdle, the deeper blue appearing again in her sandals and the bow on her sand Milan hat. She wore a corsage bouquet of deep pink roses and swansonia. Mrs. Groves was attired in a gown of beige lace and a large black picture hat. Her corsage bouquet was of deep cream rosebuds. Presiding at the daintily-appointed tea table were Mrs. W. J. Whiteside, Mrs. Victor Odlum, Mrs. Arthur M. Whiteside and Mrs. Percy DesBrisay. Dispensing tees were Mrs. R. F. Mather and Dr. Ethlyn Trapp.

For traveling, the bride wore a heavy white Shantung sports dress with large brown buttons. Her coat was of hand-woven tweed in tones of beige and brown. She wore a white hat with a brown band, and white shoes, and carried a brown purse.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 23 (AP).—John Grierson, British flyer, arrived here at 3:30 p.m., Iceland time; 11:30 a.m., E.S.T., today, after a flight from Londonderry, Ireland, on his way to Ottawa by the northern route.

THEY crackle IN CREAM

THERE'S no other cereal like Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Bubbles of rice so crisp they crackle and pop in milk or cream.

Children, especially, like this fascinating cereal. Wholesome, too — let them eat all they want. Fine for breakfast, lunch, or the kiddies' supper. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

SECOND ANNUAL REUNION HELD

Newton F. Pullen, of Vancouver, Gives Humorous Address to Gyro Club

Offering in his own inimitable atyle a conception of how a speech should be delivered, Newton F. Pullen, of Vancouver, former Victoria Gyro Club official, addressed the second annual reunion of the local Gyro Club yesterday in the Empress Hotel grillroom. Some fifty-five present and ex-members attended.

After discussing how a speaker should open his address, Mr. Pullen said: "Take out your watch and put it on the table in front of you. Personally, I have a compass here, so I can fool the audience, but I'll know which way north points." The speaker continued for a few minutes in an elaborate outline of the merits of compasses.

Referring to distractions during a speech, Mr. Pullen declared: "The bell-hop can, by merely entering a room and whispering to someone, attract more attention than the speaker who is out in front working his head off. The idea, of course, is to dress the speaker in a uniform and let him get in some whispering on his own account."

"WAY TO PARADISE"

For about half an hour Mr. Pullen kept the club in continuous state of laughter. He requested the club to reserve "twelve consecutive luncheons for G. G. McGeer, K.C., who will show you the way to paradise, where the angels agree, although they do not understand."

In concluding his address, Mr. Pullen gave two examples of votes of thanks. He was enthusiastically applauded and President Dr. C. B. Mess thanked him.

GIVES REPORT

During the luncheon Ronald White, member of the Kamloops club, gave a resume of the work done by the Gyros there during the three months they have been functioning.

Among the former Gyros present were: J. R. Kingham, Harold A. Beckwith, Harold B. McDonald, Harry B. Dawson, Dr. Allan Fraser, Ross Crane, V. L. Smith, Robert S. Yates, Dr. E. Hetherington, Robert D. Harvey, Oliver M. Prentice, A. Dowell, Jack Fuller, Dr. Harry Johns and Arthur H. Ker.

GETTING AWAY WITH IT

"—And no bunkers."

Something in Mrs. Jedberry's brain snapped as she burst into the room and heard her golfing husband utter the above words.

"Heavens!" she shrieked, regardless of the presence of Jedberry's golfing friend. "Will you never take an interest in anything else? It's golf, golf, golf, morning, noon and night. I'm sick and—"

"But, my dear, I really don't see what you're driving—"

"There you are. Driving!" she shrilled. "Everlasting golf. Can't you stop it?"

"Good heavens, Millie! I simply hazard a remark—"

"There's another of them," yelled Millie. "Hazards, hazards! And you were discussing bunkers when I came in."

"But we weren't talking golf, darling."

"N—not talking golf?"

"No, my dear. Oil-burning steamers."

STRONG CAST IN EMPIRE PICTURE

George Arliss Heads Players in Dramatic Story, "The House of Rothschild"

George Arliss broke a rule in which he has strictly adhered during all his years in Hollywood when he attended an unannounced "sneak" preview of "The House of Rothschild," his first starring vehicle under his new contract with Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures, now showing at the Empire Theatre.

The dramatic situations in the film and the brilliant performance of the star brought deafening rounds of applause from the packed house. Came the thrilling fade-out, beautifully photographed in Technicolor. Then, after a moment, rose a cry of "Look—there's George Arliss!" But the recognition came too late, for before the army of autograph hunters could close in, the star had taken flight.

DOMINION THEATRE Thrilling as a bugle call, vivid as a campfire flame, vital as the crimsoned pages that he lived—and others wrote, Pancho Villa marches again to the made music of "La Cucuracha," in "Viva Villa," the current attraction at the Dominion Theatre. A stirring subject startlingly portrayed in broad strokes and splashes of cinematic artistry. Wallace Beery is seen in the title role.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol — Ben Bernie in "Shoot the Works."

Columbia—"Emergency Call," starring Bill Boyd.

Dominion—Wallace Beery in "Viva Villa."

Empire — "The House of Rothschild," starring George Arliss.

Playhouse—Francis Lederer in "Man of Two Worlds."

"SAPPER" STORY AT CAPITOL TOMORROW

"The Return of Bulldog Drummond," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre, brings to life once more the thrilling drama of the famous fictional hero created by "Sapper." It is definitely a picture that lovers of thrills and this versatile author must love. It runs the gamut from international intrigue to fast action in gripping sequence. Ralph Richardson stars, supported by Ann Todd and Francis L. Sullivan.

The second feature is "Embarrassing Moments," featuring Chester Morris and Marion Nixon in a laugh-laden comedy of love and life.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

KEEPING COMFORTABLE DURING HOT WEATHER

When we read that the inhabitants of some countries stop work and rest or sleep from about 11 o'clock in the morning till 3 in the afternoon, we wonder if this resting is really necessary or whether these people are "lazy."

As a matter of fact, resting or getting away from the outdoor heat, is a necessity in hot countries.

The reason that sleeping or resting enables us to endure heat is because the body does not create as much heat within itself when we rest as when we are walking about. When the body does its ordinary work — breathing, digesting food, pumping blood, getting rid of wastes and other jobs—it creates heat, and 80 per cent of the food eaten is used up by these body processes.

If, then, we lie at complete rest as in sleeping, practically no extra heat is manufactured to be gotten rid of by the body.

But, in most countries, work goes on; stores, offices and factories cannot close down, and so when hot weather comes something must be done to enable the inhabitants to continue work despite the heat.

Naturally, as food makes heat in the body, the first thought might be cutting down of the food intake, but as 80 per cent of the food goes towards maintaining the various processes of the body—breathing, circulation of blood, digestion and other processes—certainly at least 80 per cent of the cold weather intake must be continued. And if the individual works or plays hard in the warm weather he is going to need nearly the same amount of food as during the cold weather.

Some foods are more "heating" than others and so fat meat, butter, sugar and potatoes might be cut down, but lean meat, eggs and fish repair body tissues and should be cut down but little, if at all. Fruits and salads should be increased. The next though, aside from food, is to try to keep the home, office, or factory as cool as possible. If any little draught can be maintained, without opening the doors and windows to the heat from pavements and buildings, it will move the moist air away from the body and thus enable the body to get rid of more heat.

That is the reason that the electric fan, by breaking up the moist envelope of air that surrounds us, is so refreshing on a hot day.

Remember, keeping the intestine active is also helpful in enabling us to withstand the heat.

And finally, if at all possible, don't eat when hot or tired, as the digestive and protective juices are at a low ebb, and pain similar to ptomaine poisoning may result.

ENGLAND HOPES FOR DRAW IN FOURTH TEST MATCH

LOTT AND STOEFEN TAKE DOUBLES FROM AUSTRALIAN PAIR

Register Much-Needed Victory Over Crawford and Quist as Play Continues in Davis Cup Series—Winners Settle Match in Four Sets—Two Singles Carded Today

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 23 (AP).—Racquets, muted in the opening singles matches, Saturday, sang a belated song of triumph today as George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stoefen celebrated a decision over Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist in the second phase of the inter-zone final of Davis Cup play.

The 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 victory of the American doubles players served to bolster the United States forces for a desperate last ditch struggle tomorrow.

While Australia still holds a tremendous advantage, needing to win only one of the two remaining engagements, there was a feeling the American players might yet pull it out of the fire.

If Sidney B. Wood, Jr., playing Crawford, phlegmatic Australian ace, in the first match is successful, Frank X. Shields believes he can beat Vivian McGrath in the final contest. Saturday, Wood was the victim of an upset at the hands of McGrath, 7-5, 6-4, 1-6, 9-7, and Shields fell before Crawford, 6-1, 6-2, 12-10.

Except for the third set, which they lost, and a stretch of four or five through the fourth, the cool, crafty Lott and his partner were complete masters of the play.

RAYMENT IS DEFEATED IN NET TOURNEY

Only Island Entry Loses in First Round of Western Canada Tennis

VANCOUVER LAWN TENNIS CLUB, July 23 (CP).—Favorites advanced easily, without exception, in first and second round matches in today's opening play of the Western Canadian tennis championships, on the courts of the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, here.

Mel Dranga, of Seattle, and young Bob Harman, of San Francisco, seeded No. 1 and 2, respectively, headed an even dozen United States entries who won through today.

Dranga, defeated Ian Stevenson, of Vancouver, 6-1, 6-0, to enter the third round of the men's singles, along with Harman and R. Breashear, another San Franciscan.

Harman downed Jack Duncan, Vancouver, and Breashear eliminated Ed Forst, also of Vancouver.

Harman headed the list of nine youthful American stars into the boys under eighteen second round

Favored United States entries also placed well in the opening round of the men's doubles, sending three teams into the second round.

VISITORS ADVANCE

Breashear and Wheeler, of California, defeated T. Porter and Forst, Vancouver, 6-2, 6-4, in one match; J. R. Kinney and B. Seward, California, defeated R. DeMoth and H. Brown, Vancouver, 6-0, 6-2, and Walter Haas and H. E. Brown, of San Francisco, eliminated Giles and Hawes, Vancouver, when the latter pair defaulted.

In the other division to see action today, the women's singles, Miss Kay Northcote, of San Francisco, won a hard-fought first-round match from Mrs. J. Haggart, of Vancouver, after three grueling sets.

The San Franciscan dropped the first, 3-6, battled through eighteen games to take the second, 10-8, and won out in the third, 6-2, when the pace became too much for the Vancouver woman.

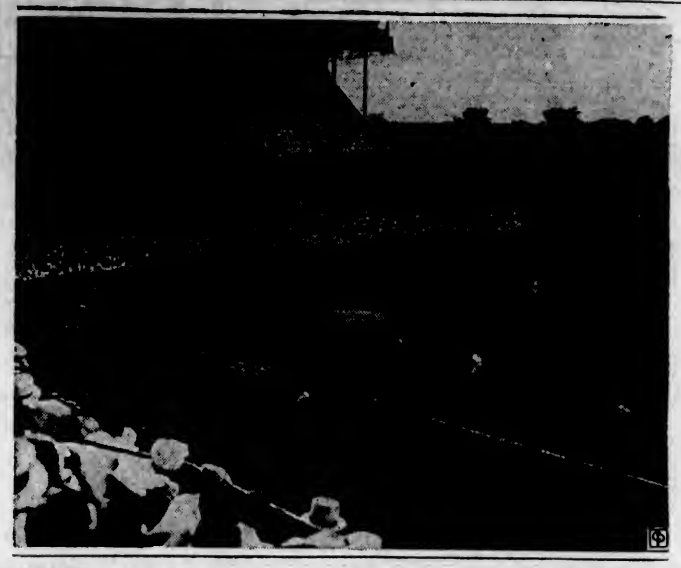

T. O. Ryall, of Vancouver, who is expected to provide most of the opposition to the United States stars in the men's singles title hunt, romped through his first-round match with Haas, today, dropping only one game in the first set, and running through the second in straight sets.

RAYMENT LOSES

C. H. Rayment, Victoria, only Vancouver Island entry in the tournament, bowed to R. deMille, of Vancouver, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0, in the first round.

The reason the world is called Mother Earth and not Father Earth is because everybody is so uncertain about her age.

BRADMAN FINISHES INNINGS WITH 304; BIG CROWD ATTENDS

English Cricketers Will Take Field Today Fighting With Their Backs to Wall—Still Have Six Wickets in Hand and Are Ninety Runs Behind Aussies' First Innings

LEEDS, England, July 23 (CP).—Fighting with their backs to the wall, about the best that England's eleven can hope for in the fourth test cricket match with Australia is a draw. This would leave decision of the rubber to the fifth and last match next month.

With six wickets in hand of their second innings, England tonight were still ninety runs behind the Aussie first-inning total. The English were grimly defending their wickets with the objective of preventing an Australian win by an innings, but at the same time affording them no time to go out and win tomorrow. A crowd of 30,000 today saw some dismal periods in which runs came at the rate of one in five minutes.

When play resumed on a fast wicket, Australia had 494 runs for only four wickets, with Don Bradman having 271 to his credit. The remaining six went for 90 runs, Bradman being out at 304—just 30 runs below the all-time record he established on these grounds four years ago.

William Bowes, the six-foot-four fast bowler from Yorkshire, and Hedley Verity, his teammate, shared the bowling honors as the Aussie innings was wound up. Bowes, during the morning, garnered three wickets for 43 runs.

Verity took three other wickets, but counting the entire innings they cost him 113 runs. The remaining wicket was lost when Clarry Grimmett was run out.

Bowes sent a maiden over to Bradman to open the play, Wally Hammond taking the other end. Bradman soon got himself settled again, and with a boundary off Hammond sent up 503 on the board.

DROPS EASY CATCH

Verity dropped a fairly easy catch from Bradman off Bowes, in the slips, when Bradman had reached 260. Bowes, however, continued to bowl with rare fire. After hitting McCabe's pads twice in succession he got his middle stump with a low break-back, and the fifth wicket was down for 517 runs, McCabe having scored 27.

Bradman, going after risky strokes, swiped for a four to reach his own 300 out of a total of 546, the triple century having taken the master batsman exactly seven hours.

Hedley Verity replaced Hammond and shortly after Bowes defeated Bradman. Bradman, not so sound as on Saturday, lost his middle stumps to a fast one from the big Yorkshireman, having reached 304 runs out of a total of 550. His innings included two 6's and forty-three 4's.

The rest of the Aussie wickets went cheaply once Bradman was disposed of. Leonard Darling was the victim of the same sort of delivery that beat Bradman, a low sizzler that got his middle stump, and seven were down for 12.

Young Chipperfield was caught by Wyatt at silly midoff after scoring a single. Grimmett was next to go, the bowler, after scoring 14 runs, hitting out off Bowes, getting a single and being run out as he tried to stretch it. The last wicket fell shortly afterwards, when Wall was deceived by a top-spinner from Verity and was out leg-before-wicket.

ENGLAND AT BAT

England went in to bat for their second innings facing a deficit of 384 runs. T. W. Wall was the opening bowler, with Stanley McCabe at the other end. C. F. Walters took the first offerings, William Keeton being the other opening bat.

They started cautiously, and it took ten minutes to get the first three runs. Grimmett was brought on in place of McCabe, and his last ball before the luncheon interval, a typical Grimmett googly offering, snatched the first wicket. Keeton, having scored 12 runs out of 28, saw his stumps collapse.

Thirty thousand were in the stands after lunch. Grimmett and O'Reilly were on the attack. The English batsmen resumed confidently, Walters driving O'Reilly to the boundary and exploiting the deliveries for the best he could get. Hammond, with a glorious drive to the off, sent up the half century in fifty minutes of the innings.

Hammond faced Grimmett confidently, sending him to the leg boundary twice. Hammond lost England's second wicket on a tragic mistake in the next over. He played a half-defensive stroke to a ball aimed at his middle wicket. Wall fumbled the drive and Walters started running. Hammond did the same. Wall recovered and quickly returned the ball to Grimmett, who outran Hammond. Hammond had scored 20 runs, and the second wicket was down for 70.

Patsy Hendren, who followed him at the wickets, might have been easily out to either Grimmett or O'Reilly before he had got settled. He sent a cut too near Chipperfield at short slip to be called a good shot, and a prodigious break from Grimmett barely missed his off stump. Then Walters' wicket fell at 87, a fast one from O'Reilly getting his off stump. Walters had compiled 45 runs in an hour and 20 minutes, including six 4's.

O'Reilly had Darling and Bradman in a leg-trap, with McCabe at silly midoff. He was replaced by Wall at 91, and Wyatt sent Wall's first offering to the boundary after twenty minutes without a score. Hendren, with a couple off Wall, later sent the century up after an hour and 50 minutes of the innings.

Both Wyatt and Hendren took a long time to get settled. Chipperfield replaced Grimmett at 106, and the runs were obtained at a very slow rate. Just before tea the game livened up somewhat, but O'Reilly joined Wall with the score at 120. Tea was taken with the board showing 131 runs for three.

STRAINS MUSCLE

Shortly after the resumption, Bradman strained a leg muscle reaching for a hit from Hendren. He was replaced by E. H. Bromley. Scoring was at a very dull rate. The batsmen took thirty-five minutes to get 7 runs.

Wyatt was bowled by Grimmett. His innings produced 44 runs out of a total 152. He batted nearly two hours and had eight 4's.

Woodfull kept interchanging the bowlers. Leyland, who had joined Hendren, like the latter, concentrated on his defence. They did not take the slightest risk, and when the close of play came England had only 188 runs on the board for four wickets.

DUTRA ON HAND FOR PRO MEET

American Open King Arrives at Scene of Big Tourney Which Opens Today

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 23 (AP).—Olin Dutra, the swarthy American open king, today arrived on the scene of the seventeenth annual Professional Golfers' Association championship, which starts tomorrow, and soon had the rest of the boys guessing and groaning.

"Hi-ya, boys!" Olin greeted his welcomers. "I've got it again, so you'd better watch out."

They didn't need to be told what he meant, and he didn't leave any doubt in their minds. Olin was suffering from an attack of amoebic dysentry at the start of the 1934 open championship and he had to be coaxed by his brother, Mortie, to play in the tournament. He is suffering from the same malady again, and will start in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round tomorrow, with 113 other title hopefuls, against the advice of his doctor.

SOME OF SCORES

The par 72 Park Club layout was whipped by a stiff breeze today, but it didn't affect the scores. Denny Shute, the 1933 British open titleholder, and George Vitense, Milwaukee, paced the contestants with 68's; Tommy Armour, Chicago, posted a 69; Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City, and Jack Thomson, Cleveland, had 70's, and Craig Wood, Hollywood, N.J.; Al. Houghton, Washington, D.C.; Reggie Myles, Cleveland; Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee, and Harry Cooper, Chicago, carded 71 each.

SEEDED PLAYERS SHOW WAY IN CANADIAN TENNIS

Select Net Stars Advance Without Much Opposition

Curtain Goes Up on Annual Canadian Championships at Toronto—Competition Is Keen—Caroline Deacon, Eleanor Young and Gordie Shields Are Victorious

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, July 23 (CP). — If first impressions count—and there's every indication they will—a trio of racquet stars from the Prairies and the Rockies should advance to upper brackets of the Canadian tennis championship agenda.

In the first round fixtures, today, Winnipeg's two entrants broke even, Eddie McKush, Manitoba title-holder, scoring an easy two-set victory over C. W. M. Service, of Toronto, to the tune of 6-2, 6-0, and Hartley Hopper dropping his match to Harry Dayes, seeded star from Jamaica, 6-4, 9-7.

When dueled from the baselines, Hopper held his own with the steady, hard-hitting Dayes, but the Jamaican had the advantage and used it in the second set.

Vancouver's youthful entries in the women's singles, Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young, found the spotlight at once with impressive displays of power. Miss Deacon crushed Mrs. A. Griffin, Toronto, 6-1, 6-2, and Miss Young hammered out a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Margaret Boultbee, of Toronto.

NUNNS REGISTERS

Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, finalist against Marcel Rainville in the Ontario event last week, had the smallest margin of safety among the stars who marched through two rounds. Nunns almost dropped a set to a red-headed youngster from Montreal, Lewis Duff, 6-3, 9-6.

The Quebec junior played so well against Nunns in the second set that he had a small gallery cheering him. The big Davis Cup captain was never in really serious difficulties and seemed to enjoy Duff's fine placement shots as much as the spectators. In his first-round match, Nunns defeated B. M. Singer, of Toronto, 6-1, 6-0.

Walter Martin, his Ontario title in Rainville's hands, drew a bye in the first round and scored a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Donald Gunn, of Toronto, in the second round. Rainville also moved up to the second round without playing and polished off J. Leibel, of Toronto, 6-0, 6-1, to gain the third round.

Dayes' flashy partner, Donald Leahong, accounted for the veteran Gordon Spanner, of Toronto, 6-1, 6-4.

Spanner made many of the rallies long, but he was unable to keep pace with the brilliant Leahong, who seemed to score at will.

TAKES TWO MATCHES

Laird Watt, of Montreal, won twice, eliminating G. R. Wadden, of Toronto, in the first round by 6-0, 6-3, then upsetting W. C. Powell, of Toronto, 6-2, 6-0. Bob Murray, of Montreal, advanced through a default.

But Henry Paul Emard, of Toronto, bumped squarely into trouble twice and lost one set before reaching the third round. L. Wilson, of Toronto, gave the French-Canadian player a rousing battle before succumbing, 10-8, 6-4.

Young Art Anderson, of Toronto, former Ontario junior champion, was even more successful. He won the second set against Emard, who won by 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

SHIELDS TRIUMPHS

The day's hardest-fought match was between Maurice Margesson, University of Toronto player, and Gordon Shields, of Toronto, former Vancouver star. Shields triumphed at 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, but Margesson forced the only player to win a set from Rainville, last week, to the limit.

Twice champion of Ontario, Mrs. Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, won by 6-2, 6-4 over June Merrill, Toronto, and Montreal's chief hope, Effie Billing, downed Marjorie Wright, Toronto, 6-3, 6-1. Diana Pope, of London, Ontario, Western Ontario title-holder, was carried to three sets by pretty Mrs. W. R. Walton, Toronto, before winning at 6-4, 3-5, 6-3.

Lois Hofmeister, Chicago, disposed of Pauline Barber, Toronto, with the loss of only two games, and the other United States entrant, Mrs. Catharine Rose, of Los Angeles, defeated Mary Carre, of Toronto, 6-1, 6-4.

MEL DRANGA WINS TITLE AT DUNCAN

Seattle Star Captures South Cowichan Net Crown From Rosenberg

DUNCAN, July 23.—The South Cowichan Tennis Club's open tournament, halted on Saturday by bad weather, was concluded on Sunday, when the final in men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles, women's doubles, and four matches in mixed doubles were disposed of.

The men's singles brought Mel Dranga and Rosenberg, both of Seattle, together, but Dranga dominated the play all the way, and won in straight sets with the loss of only two games.

Miss Philipsen displayed good form in disposing of Mrs. Lay in straight sets. She showed good length and pace, and seemed to have a little in reserve at all times.

The men's doubles, which carried with it the Vancouver Island championship, found McCallum and W. E. Corfield pitted against the Seattle pair, Dranga and Rosenberg. It produced the best tennis of the day. The Seattle pair won in four sets. The first two sets were well contested, the Victoria pair dropping the first at 3-6, and taking the second at 6-4. The Victorians then got into difficulties, finding the court a little too small for some otherwise very fine shots, and found themselves on the short end of a 6-1 score. This weakness continued in the fourth set, until Dranga and Rosenberg took four straight games. At this point McCallum and Corfield settled down and took the lead at 5-4. From then on games went with service, until the Americans broke through McCallum's service to take the lead at 9-8 and ran the match out at 10-8.

Scores in Sunday's play follows:

MIXED DOUBLES

Miss Wilson and W. E. Corfield beat Miss Greenwood and Kingston, 6-2, 6-2.

Semi-Final

Miss Wilson and Corfield beat Miss Horne and Hocking, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Campbell and McCallum beat Miss Philipsen and Leney, 6-4, 12-10.

MEN'S SINGLES

Final

Dranga beat Rosenberg, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Miss Philipsen beat Mrs. Lay, 6-3, 7-5.

Soccer Player Dies

CALGARY, July 23 (CP). — Injured during a soccer game a week ago, David Smith, twenty-six-year-old centre-forward of the Bridgeland Rovers, died in hospital today. Immediate cause of death was not revealed, and the attending physician, Dr. C. B. Right, would not state if it was attributed to the injuries received in the match with the Imperial Crescents.

Smith collided with another player, but played out the game. Suffering from stomach injuries, he sought medical attention and was immediately sent to hospital.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Speaking of Harry Beasley, the local Y.M.C.A. athlete, The Winnipeg Free Press says:

"The feature of the boys' events was the performance of H. B. Beasley, of Victoria, who won the 100 yards in 10 2-5 seconds, 220 yards in 24 seconds, 440 yards in 54 seconds and the running broad jump at 18 feet 4 1-2 inches. For a lad of seventeen, each one of these is a remarkable performance, and when they are all accomplished on the same day, is so much the more creditable. Beasley is a slim youngster, standing five feet seven inches, and weighing only 109 pounds. This is his third season on the running path, and he has already made a big name for himself in his native town, Victoria, where he is looked upon, and with reason, as a coming world-beater."

One week from tomorrow the local lacrosse twelve will go to New Westminster to play the second division team of the Royal City.

According to reports, the Vancouver professional ball team may be a thing of the past in a very short time. The lacrosse games have been taking the gates in the Terminal City, and the team that won the pennant last season is not putting up the brand of ball that is expected of it.

Secretary Gray, of the J.B.A.A., received a telephone message from Duncan last evening to have the J.B.A.A. baseball nine go up tomorrow afternoon on the 3 o'clock train to play in the evening at that town. Those who will make the trip are McIllmoyl, Gregg, Hughes, Brown, Shanks, Brooker, Winsby, Gray, Keppock, White and a bunch of rooters.

That the Victoria club will have a rather strong team to go to the Royal City a week from this coming Saturday is evidenced by the way the local players have been turning out to practice. On Monday evening Captain Stiles had over fifteen of the local pillars of lacrosse on the green at the Royal Athletic Park, and each and every player was out for some work. In view of the fact that they have all had a good rest, Julian and McArthur, the two newcomers to Victoria, are a welcome addition to the locals, and will be in the line-up of the Victoria squad when they make the trip to the banks of the Fraser.

Medica Breaks Another Record On Way to Japan

HONOLULU, July 23 (AP). —Two world swimming records were bettered here, today, as the United States team, en route to Japan, participated in exhibition matches.

Jack Medica, University of Washington ace from Seattle, was timed at 4:40.6 in the 400-metre freestyle event, for which the best listed time is 4:46, made by K. Makino, of Japan.

Alvan de Weghe, American backstroke champion, swam the 100-metre backstroke event in 1:07.4, the accepted mark being 1:08.2, made by George Kojac, United States holder of many records.

Colonist Nine Suffers Defeat

Forced to take the field without two of their regular and heaviest sluggers, Wally Rowe and Sammy Essler, centrefielder and third baseman, respectively, The Colonist softball nine suffered its first setback of the season, Sunday afternoon, on the Florence Lake grounds, Langford, at the hands of Hudson's Bay, 19-12. It was the first defeat for the newsies in four starts. The Bays trimmed Langford in the opening tussle, 10-8. Rowe and Essler arrived about the sixth inning, when the game was practically in the bag for the departmentals.

Getting away to a good start at the expense of several errors by The Colonist outfield, coupled with some timely hitting, the Bays went into an early lead, and coasted in from then on. Several homers featured the game, and a large crowd attended.

COX'S ARMY AWAITS CALL FOR BATTLE

Fighting Ball-Tossers Face Tough Assignment Tomorrow Night

With his proteges in seclusion awaiting the call of battle, General William Cox, officer commanding Cox's Army of ball-tossers, announced yesterday that everything is in readiness for the appearance, tomorrow evening, of his stalwarts against an all-star aggregation from The Times and The Colonist newspapers. The scene of the battle will be Beacon Hill Park, with the zero hour at 6:15 o'clock.

JIMMY McLARNIN

In addition to the ball fixture, which will present stars of yesterday, today and tomorrow, arrangements have been completed for the personal appearance of Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver's flatic pride and former welterweight champion of the world, and Lester Patrick, boss man of the New York Rangers hockey club.

The menu for the evening's entertainment is one that would tease the palate of the most particular person. There will be candy for the children, 1,000 suckers, presented by the S. S. Kresge Company; 5,000 bags of carmel crisp for the older folks, donated by the Carmel Crisp Shop, Fort Street; peanuts for everybody; pigeons to spare; boxing and music.

TO BE WELCOMED

The band of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, which will play a number of popular airs, will be on the grounds prior to the commencement of the fixture and will give an official welcome to Jimmy McLarnin, Lester Patrick and Cox's Army of ball players.

Following the game, Albie and Jumbo Davies, prominent local fighters, will fight an exhibition bout, with Jimmy McLarnin as the referee.

General Cox announced today that he has visions of an attack from enemy aircraft, and for that reason will have his boys on the lookout. The plane will be carrying a message of good cheer to the many fans, who are expected to number in the thousands.

TENTATIVE TEAM

Rival squads, announced yesterday, follow:

Newspaper All-Stars—Delahunty, centre field and pitcher; Corbett, second base; R. Knott, short stop; Ted Fox, third base; Caddell, catcher; Sargison; pitcher, and Bill Norris, outfield.

General Cox will present a formidable array of talent, which will include Lester Patrick, at first base, and Jimmy McLarnin, at the keystone bag. Ralph Rogers, one of McLarnin's fondest admirers, will cover the hot corner, while Macedo will play short stop. R. Sallaway Smith, Cox, Veitch, Short and Fitzsimmons are lined up for outfield duty.

Shots of the action during the game will be taken by the Associated Screen News and will most likely be seen in many of the leading theatres in Canada and the United States.

A collection will be taken during the game, the proceeds of which will go to charity.

New York Stocks Decline Sharply In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP). — Stocks declined sharply today to a new low level for the year under the heaviest volume since May 10 last.

Rails were particularly weak and dropped 1 to 3 points. Elsewhere losses in prominent stocks ranged up to 7 points, National Lead showing one of the extreme recessions.

Volume totaled 1,868,790 shares.

The average for ninety stocks closed 2.8 points lower at 72.2. Industrials have penetrated the resistance points established on the Spring decline in mid-May.

Among rails, Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, Union Pacific, New York Central, Northern Pacific and Erie finished about 2 to 3 points lower.

U.S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear Tire, J. I. Case, Owens-Illinois Glass and International Harvester were on the list of industrial shares touching the lowest prices recorded this year on declines of 1 to 3 points.

BONDS HAVE RELAPSE

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP). — Secondary loans suffered a relapse in the bond market today, coincident with a sharp decline in stocks. Losses ranged from 1 to around 4 points.

Transfers totaled $11,509,000, par value.

Federal obligations were a trifle easier.

The foreign section was irregular.

FUTURES SHOW GAIN AT CLOSE

Winnipeg Wheat Has Brisk Session — Upturn Helped by Liverpool Strength

WINNIPEG, July 23 (CP). — Wheat futures started off briskly on the grain exchange today, won and nearly lost all of an early advance, to fluctuate sluggishly for the balance of the session, and finished with a net gain of 1-4 to 3-8 of a cent; July at 85 3-8, October 86 7-8 and December 88 1-8 cents.

Strength at Liverpool, where prices advanced 1 3-4 to 1 5-8d, accounted for the early upturn on the local mart, but thereafter traders lost interest in the market. A 2-cent increase in Argentine wheat prices gave strength to the English market.

Easiness at Chicago and lack of good export business were depressing factors. Sales of Canadian wheat for overseas shipment totaled only 250,000 bushels.

World wheat shipments last week totaled 10,982,000 bushels, of which 3,659,000 bushels came from North America.

Little interest was shown in cash grains and coarse grains futures were dull.

Virginia Vane Says:

JILTED LOVES

Dear Virginia Vane: I was very much in love with a man much older than myself. We have broken up at his suggestion and are now good friends. I suffered a great deal when I lost him. Now I go with many of his friends and they seem devoted to me. One in particular, his best friend, cares for me a great deal. I do not know just what to do about these friends of my former sweetheart's. Would I make a better impression on him if I played up to them or ignored him?

He has tried to see me once or twice lately. I know I could never trust him again but still love him. I have been nice and friendly to him whenever I've seen him but this hasn't brought him back to me. So what would you advise me to do?—M.J.

Until you stop making your ex-flame the centre of your universe you will know little happiness and have few opportunities for making and enjoying new friendships.

If you're simply going with other men in order to see what effect this procedure will have on your old beau—you're hardly giving yourself a chance to appreciate the new suitors and to like them genuinely. And that isn't fair to yourself.

Try closing that old episode. Try to shut it out of your mind. You say that your faithless love could never inspire real trust in you again. And the remnant of love you have left for him is probably more a question of habit than any real feeling. So why go on building up your life around this one love affair? Wipe the slate clean and start all over again. Run your friendships to suit yourself—not to inspire either like or dislike in the man you once loved.

DON'T SACRIFICE PRINCIPLES TO WIN BOY FRIEND

J.G.: If the boy really loved you he would not ask you to sacrifice your principles for his sake. And you could never be happy if you felt that you had lowered your standards of conduct in order to win love.

No, he's young enough to be selfish and that is why he is being so unreasonable. He must learn that love includes tenderness and that unless he shows this kind of love for you he will lose you entirely. Remember, that if you hold him by methods which you yourself disapprove of, you will not be at peace with yourself again and will therefore know no real happiness.

GIRL PREFERS PARTIES TO FRIENDSHIP

Dear Miss Vane: I have been part of a crowd for some time in which there is one particular girl I care for very much. Lately she and I have hardly ever been included in social gatherings, and finally she told me frankly that her crowd did not like me and would rather she went with somsone else. Shall I give her up? She and I quarrel often because she likes to go to all the dances and parties and I don't care for them?—Unhappy.

If your friendship means less to your lady than the approval of the crowd, by all means give her her freedom and let her find someone who is more congenial to her chosen friends.

This may be difficult to do at first, but comfort yourself with the reflection that if you didn't make this move soon, your fickle sweetheart would do it for you.

I believe she is still at the age where popularity and good times mean more to her than one particular man. She has sensed, perhaps, that her friends are not your enthusiastic admirers and she has felt that their criticism meant the doom of her social future. Let her find out for herself whether popularity at the expense of a friendship is worthwhile.

And make some friends for yourself. There are other crowds where you might find yourself more at home than in the group chosen for you by your girl friend.

TIME, A CURE FOR HEARTACHES

M.O.W.: Let me assure you that no heartache lasts forever. You have been brave through the last few months and you can find more courage with which to face the flurry of weddings with their painful reminders of all that might have been.

You're enduring the worst right this minute. And the worst can't last. Jilted girls have written by the hundreds to tell me that their agony was never-ending and have lived to wonder what the fuss was all about.

Don't let others' criticism break down your nerve. It is not for them to wonder why you don't show your grief more obviously. Have the pride to keep your head up and to realize that you are bound to emerge from the black valley of despair sooner than you expect.

Accept all invitations. Get in practice for making real friends again. This experience which has cost you much suffering will give you as a reward a fund of wisdom and an iron self-control which will make life easier for you later on.

UNPOPULARITY NOT DUE TO RED HAIR

Redhead: No, I have never heard that red-headed women are unpopular or unattractive to men. Indeed some of the most famous beauties in history have won undying fame because of their Titian locks.

I do believe though that you've developed a nice cosy little inferiority complex about the color of ydur hair and that this has rendered you shy and miserable in the presence of others. Your own complex is holding you back. You're blaming all your misfortunes on the color of your hair when all the time you may have just one or two unfortunate habits which make you less attractive than you would like to be.

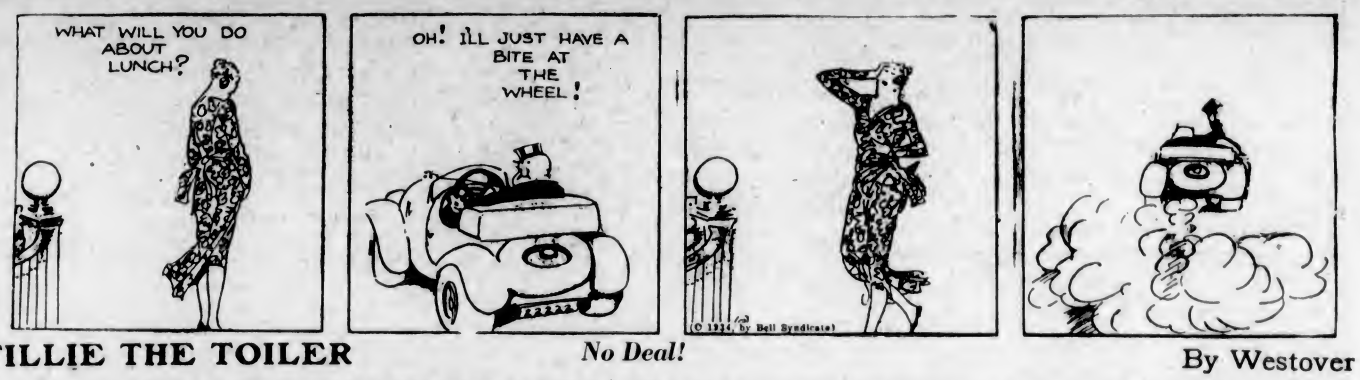

Discard the redhead theory and get to work to see wherein lies your real handicap.

CANADIANS IN EASY VICTORY

Chalk Up 12-5 Win Over Poodle Dog Cafe—Score Seven in Sixth

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	Pct.
Sons of Canada	13	3	.813
Poodle Dog Cafe	8	8	.500
Tillicums	2	12	.143

Next game tomorrow, Poodle Dog Cafe vs. Tillicums, Royal Athletic Park, 6-15 o'clock.

Pushing over seven runs in a sixth inning scoring rampage, Sons of Canada had little difficulty in handing the Poodle Dog Cafe squad a 12-5 shellacking yesterday evening in a Senior Baseball League fixture played at the Royal Athletic Park.

Bill Holness paraded to the mound again last night in hopes of turning back the Canadians for a second straight time, but in vain. The heavy artillery of the Sons took to his offerings like a duck to water and blasted out eleven safeties before he went to the showers in the sixth inning.

Leo Holden took up the hurling after Holness' exit with men on first and second. Tommy Musgrave, the first batter to face Holden clicked for a triple and drove in the two runners on the bags. Musgrave scored seconds later on Haines' single. Bacon and Moore, the next hitters, were given free transportation, but they died on the cushions when Holman filed out and Hilton grounded out to end the scoring bee.

GREAT CATCH

The Poodle Dog Cafe looked to be headed for places in the seventh, when Musgrave walked three successive batters to load the bags. Holden came to bat and smacked one of Musgrave's fast balls for a terrific drive to centre field and was robbed of a double when Bill Holman picked off a sensational one-handed running catch. It was a great play by the husky centre fielder and saved at least two runs.

The Cafe men finally scored in this inning, when with the bags loaded for a second time, Robinson crashed out a double to deep left field and cleaned the bags.

SONS OF CANADA TO MEET EAGLES

Leading Twilight Baseball League Clubs Meet Tonight—Sidney Defeats Stockers, 12-8

With the clubs heading down the home stretch in the Twilight Baseball League's pennant chase, this evening's fixture between the second-place Sons of Canada and the third-berth Eagles' nine, at the Royal Athletic Park, at 6:15 o'clock, is one of the most crucial games of the season.

Victory for the Canadians will place them deadlocked in first berth with the Sidney aggregation, while defeat will push them down in third place and land the feathered tribe in the position previously held by the Sons of Canada.

Art Carr, first string hurler, will do the hurling for the Sons, with Monteski as his battery mate. Wilf Shouldice is expected to go to the mound for the birdmen, with Henry Woodford doing the receiving.

Playing in an exhibition game at Sidney, Sunday, Stockers went down to a 12-8 defeat at the hands of the lumbermen.

GOOD GIRL

By Peggy Gaddis

CHAPTER XXVII

Kent, watching Norman, noted a slightly wary expression in his eyes—an expression that made him suddenly thoughtful. He masked the slight suspicion, and said, cheerily, "Well, Norman, what's on your mind?"

"I—ah—ah—I hardly know how to tell you, Mr. Stanley—feeling, as I do, that I am—well, innocently somewhat the cause of it," said Norman, hesitantly.

"Ouch!" said Kent, and put a hand on his dully throbbing head. "Sorry, old man, but I had a hard night and have a devil of a hangover. I'm afraid you'll have to speak more clearly and simply if you want me to follow you! Have a cigarette? How about a cup of coffee? I haven't had mine yet—join me?"

He was being very friendly and pleasant in the hope of getting Norman off guard so that he could have some hope of finding out what really was in Norman's mind.

He picked up the telephone and ordered coffee, then sat down across from Norman, lit a cigarette, and said, pleasantly, "All right, old man, let's have it. Not a strike at the mills, I hope?"

"Oh, no, sir—everything's going splendidly at the mills!" said Norman. "It's just this, Mr. Stanley! You may, perhaps, remember a girl who worked at the mills—a girl named—Calissa Logan!"

Kent's eyes flashed grimly and his mouth set.

"I do, indeed!" he answered, briefly.

"Well, it so happens that the girl was—er—brought to my attention——" began Norman cautiously, but Kent cut in:

"Sure, I know—when my mother had some ridiculous idea of taking away from the girl a fraternity ring I had given her. You gave the girl a hundred dollars, and sent her here to Atlanta to work for a friend of yours and to share an apartment with a girl whose funds he supplies. I discovered all that—yesterday!" He didn't however, add that his discovery of those facts had led to the acquiring of the present hang-over.

Mr. Norman hesitated, and said, quietly, "Then that brings us to the point of my visit this morning! You see, I have discovered that—the young lady is filing suit against you—breach of promise!"

For a moment Kent sat perfectly still, staring at Norman, wide-eyed and entirely incredulous. The waiter knocked at the door, entered and placed a coffee tray on the table and disappeared, before Kent could force his stunned mind to take in the full significance of what Norman had said.

"You—you're trying to tell me that Calissa—Calissa—is suing me for breach of promise? Norman? You're crazy—or lying!" he snapped, furiously, at last.

A faint color crept into Norman's pale, pasty face and his eyes gleamed angrily. But he spoke quietly, carefully, almost gently.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Stanley," he said. "I wish I were! But I'm afraid it's all too true!"

Kent asked, grimly, harshly, "And I suppose you are her attorney in the case?"

"Good heavens, no, Mr. Stanley! A Mr. Robert Gordon is her attorney——" he began, but Kent interrupted him, sharply:

"Robert Gordon? Say, what is this? That's the man you sent her here to work for!" he snapped.

Norman looked embarrassed. "I know—that's why I feel so guilty. I never dreamed the girl was—smart enough to plan such a thing——"

"She isn't—if such a thing has been cooked up, I'll gamble with you that it was Gordon and the Lawrence woman that planned it. Calissa—why, Calissa is incapable of such a thing!" said Kent, and for a moment he was back in Shulta's meadow, on a golden Summer's evening, a warm, slender, vibrant young body held close in his arms, lips that were satin-smooth, and flower-fragrant moving softly beneath his own, speaking of love. The vividness of the memory made him faintly dizzy for a moment—then he heard Norman speaking.

"I'm afraid it's the girl, Mr. Stanley," he was saying. "She claims to have a sizable bundle of your letters, and Gordon has a photostatic copy of the records, showing a marriage licence issued to you for yourself and Miss Logan! No, Mr. Stanley, I'm afraid the girl has built up a most damning case against you—the evidence is overwhelmingly in her favor!"

Kent was silent for a moment, staring hard at Norman. He wished that his head didn't ache so stubbornly, that he hadn't got drunk last night, that his head was clear this morning, for he sensed, dimly, that there was something about all this that was not quite as it should be, and yet his brain was not clear enough for him to grasp anything but the idea.

He sighed, at last, and asked, heavily, "Well, Norman, since you are not representing Miss Logan, may I ask who you are representing?"

Norman hesitated, and could not quite meet Kent's eyes.

"Well, Mr. Stanley—I have had the pleasure of serving your family now and then—as I happen to know the inside facts of the case, I—had hoped that I might be able to represent your interests in this matter!" he said with seeming frankness.

Kent looked hard at him for a moment, and said suddenly, "By the way, Norman, how did you happen to learn that suit was to be filed?"

Norman hesitated, and then, still with a show of frankness, said, quietly:

"Mr. Gordon knows, of course, that I have occasionally represented your family, and he thought it possible that we might—er—get together in this little matter! I—er—well, I believe I may say frankly, that Mr. Gordon hopes that matter can be settled without going to court. He is bound, of course, to protect the interests of his client, but naturally, he prefers not to appear in court with cases of this kind—if they can be settled out of court. The—er—newspapers and—scandal make them—rather unpleasant for all concerned, if you know what I mean!"

Kent permitted himself a slight smile.

"I'll say I know what you mean!" he agreed, simply. "In other words, Mr. Gordon sent you here to see if I would hand over a handsome piece of jack for you all to divide, without the trouble of going to court! Well, you can tell Mr. Gordon for me that I'll do nothing of the sort. If he wants a fight, he shall have it! And I'll hire a lawyer to represent me who isn't quite so chummy with Gordon, if you don't mind! And now—get to blazes out of here, Norman, before I give you a swift kick to start you on your way!"

Norman was on his feet, scarlet with anger, edging a little towards the door, stammering, "Mr. Stanley—how dare you insinuate——"

"Don't be a sap, Norman—I'm not insinuating a blamed thing. I'm telling you, to your face, that you and Gordon are a couple of blackmailing crooks, with tactics that smell to high heaven, and that it's going to give me a whale of a lot of pleasure to show you both up!" cut in Kent, savagely, and Norman, with one look at Kent's white, angry face, scrambled out of the door and down the hall as fast as he could go.

Kent came back into his hotel room and shut the door. He stood still for a moment, staring straight before him, his forehead wrinkled, his eyes angry and bewildered. And then he walked to the telephone, picked it up, and called a number. A moment later, Myrtis Lawrence's voice, cool and deliberately sweet, spoke in his ear.

"Hello, Miss Lawrence! I'd like to speak to Miss Logan, please!" he said, shortly, bruskly.

A little chuckle, and then Myrtis said, sweetly, "Oh, good morning, Mr. Stanley. I'm so sorry, but poor Calissa collapsed yesterday afternoon and had to be sent away to the mountains to recover from her broken heart!"

Kent smothered an oath, and said, grimly, "Which, I suppose, won't be until the breach of promise case has been settled!"

"Aren't you clever, Mr. Stanley?" cooed Myrtis, sweetly, and he heard her little laugh, cool, brittle and cynical.

He slammed the receiver on the hook, and turned away.

A cold shower might help him, he decided, and then he had to get out and get busy! But as he turned to the door of the bathroom, there was a knock at the room door. Angrily he swung it open, and a rat-faced, furtive-eyed little man, shabbily dressed, said, "Mr. Kent Stanley? Some papers for you!"

He thrust an official-looking paper into Kent's hand and all but ran to the stairs, ignoring the elevator, and scuttled out of sight.

Kent knew what the papers were, before he looked at them. Notification of the suit for breach of promise filed against him, in Calissa's name, by the firm of Robert Gordon and Associates, attorneys-at-law.

Kent had had his shower, and dressed, and had swallowed two cups of strong black coffee, when the telephone operator announced that Johnny Ainsworth was in the lobby. A moment later the two men were shaking hands, and Johnny was saying, a trifle breathlessly, "Say, what is all this about you being sued for breach of promise by the 'cotton dolly' child?"

Kent stared at him, puzzled. "How the devil did you know?"

Johnny grunted and drew a newspaper from his pocket.

"Well, it would be a little hard not to know it!" he answered, and Kent stared, incredulously, at marching black headlines.

Twelve Days That Wrecked a World

The "usual Summer war scare" appeared in the American newspapers twenty years ago today. The serious import of that day's news is presented here by Colonel Frederick Palmer in the second of a series of twelve articles.

(By COLONEL FREDERICK PALMER)

(Copyright, 1934, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

This morning, twenty years ago—July 24, 1914—that diabolical word of three letters, war, appeared in the headlines. Editors gave a column, front page, to Austria-Hungary's ultimatum to Serbia.

But we were used to European war scares when news was dull in Summertime. None had come true. The wolf never had appeared with the cry of wolf.

MAKES FRONT PAGES

Austria - Hungary's ultimatum shared place on the front page with the $50,000 libel suit of William Barnes, Jr., New York State Republican leader, against Theodore Roosevelt. This had less space than a suit to dissolve the New Haven Railroad lines, which had still less than the salacious trial of Madame Caillaux—present wife of a former Premier of France—for murder in Paris. Yesterday had been the most sensational day yet at the trial, which held attention from pole to pole. The divorced wife had sprung her bolt in court. Crowds outside the courtroom, who previously had cheered Caillaux, now cheered the first wife and booed him.

However, the ultimatum on the front page recalled to the busy, changing world that the Austrian Crown Prince, Francis Ferdinand, and his wife had been assassinated—was it only a month ago? Time does fly. We recalled that the name of the town where this had occurred was Serajevo.

AUSTRIA DEMANDS

Anyone who read the ultimatum could not deny that it was stiff and peremptory. It demanded that Serbia "accept the collaboration of the Austro-Hungarian Government in the subversive movement directed against the territorial integrity of the monarchy."

In other words, Austria proposed to occupy Serbia in correcting conditions that brought about the assassination. Serbia had forty-eight hours, until six p.m. July 25—that is, tomorrow—to say yes or no as to whether she would comply without resistance.

Vienna, the Austrian capital, was pictured as quiet and determined, and Belgrade, the Serbian capital, as numbed and wondering while it looked toward big Slav sister Russia for a friendly nod in its distress. This was in order for the ancient capital and for the young capital; in order for the big nation staring at the small, as the giant placed a huge thumb on the pigmy's nose.

Further dispatches appeared in the afternoon editions. The Austrians were mobilizing their river gunboats in range of Belgrade, mobilizing troops on the opposite bank, ready if Serbia said no to the ultimatum.

A SHOW OF FORCE

Austria's show of force also was in order. She had made it before when there was trouble in the cantankerous Balkans, notably in the Balkan crisis out of which she won the annexation of Bosnia and Herzogovina. Now, evidently, in the assassination of her Crown Prince, she had another strong card to play, to get another bite of territory in her expansion to her goal of Salonika.

Those who gathered around American news bulletin boards were there for the baseball scores, aside from an occasional Serbian or a man descended from one of the races in the polyglot Austrian Empire. We learned from the bulletins that all the foreign chancelleries of Eprope were pre-occupied in customary diplomatic secretiveness. But it always was in order for diplomats to be grave and busy when there was another European war alarm. This was a part of the picture that gave atmosphere to the dispatches.

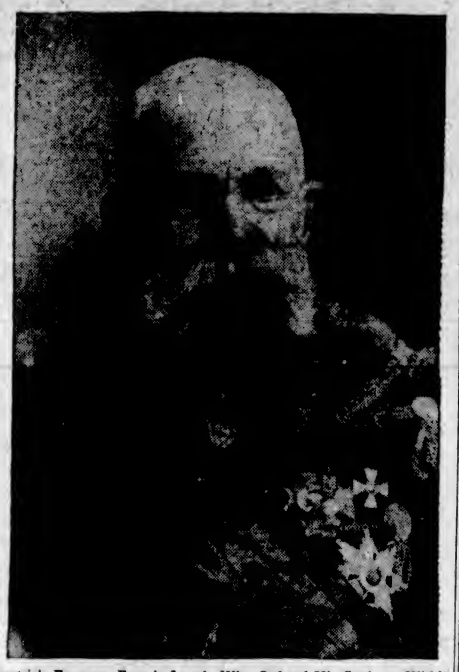

We paid less attention to the activities of Great Britain's Foreign Minister, Sir Edward Grey, for peace in Europe than to the news flash that the Irish conference in London had broken down. That seemed the last effort to prevent civil war in Ireland. Shooting might begin at any moment between the Ulstermen and the Nationalists.

SHADOW OF RUSSIA

But Russia? Her enormous shadow appeared on the horizon. Would she send her soldier masses to Serbia's defence? This mighty possibility held an edition's headlines. Then came the word that Russia advised Serbia to ask Austria for more time.

Surely Austria would give it. That would be the first step toward another European compromise which would put the latest war scare off the front page in a week. The public question at the end of the day was not whether there would be a European war, but whether the gallantry of a French jury would acquit the charming and dashing Madame Caillaux.

What Today Means

"LEO"

If July 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m., from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Business should start off with a regular bang on this date, and you should be kept as busy as the proverbial bee. Money will be made by a good many people, and there is no reason why you should not receive your share of it. A rather "dumb-bell" type of individual may cause you a good deal of irritation, if you do not try to remember that they deserve more to be pitied than blessed out. Enterprises of a speculative nature may tempt the unwary, but the wise woman or man will give them the cold shoulder. You may receive an invitation, which it may be wise to accept, for it might be the medium through which you will meet some very delightful people. Engaged and married couples, as well as those in the first throes of love pangs, will find smooth sailing if they avoid religious or political controversial topics.

If a woman and July 24 is your natal day, you should be agreeably surprised before the day is over. You possess keen powers of perception, which enables you to quickly classify people whom you meet for the first time. You are one of those rare individuals whose presence in a sick-room has a marvelously soothing effect. If the practice of medicine, or trained nursing appeals to you, then you should make every effort to gratify this desire. Any love affair should terminate most successfully. A husband should provide the companionship you crave, and provide the sort of home you have always desired. There is every indication that prosperity will smile on you, and that most of your wishes will become realities.

The child born on July 24, as it grows up, may display a keen interest in one of the professions. It should have an unusually keen sense of touch, and be able to use its hands skillfully. Everything possible should be done to gratify this child's ambition regarding a professional career, and its training should be in accordance with the future requirements of the profession chosen.

If a man and July 24 is your birthday, you are an excellent judge of human nature, and possess a sympathetic understanding of all its frailties. Women and children are especially attracted to you, and have confidence in your advice. Educational work, the legal profession, and the pulpit or lecture platform offer men of your type exceptional opportunities. Your dramatic instincts would also assure success as an actor.

There was a young man from Ky.,
Who said: "I'm exceedingly fy.,
For my girl's from Regina,
And there is none fina,
No wonder I call her my dy.!"
